Coon stuns Tucker; Weld wins here, too Andover's Harris wins gov. council seat

By Andrew Lindsay

In a devastating Election Day defeat, Andover voters came out in droves and ousted Rep. Susan Tucker (D-Andover), and gave a big yes to newcomer Republican Gary Coon, also of Andover.

Rep. Tucker, 46, of 6 Farrwood Drive, failed to win any of Andover's eight precincts, and lost some of them by 40 percent margins. The 26-year-old Mr. Coon, a 27 Korinthian Way resident who formerly ran a water treatment company, won in Andover by 7,998-6,209 (56 percent). In the whole 17th Town officials are hoping to get a quorum of 350 voters at the Special Town Meeting Tuesday, Nov. 13, in order to cut $645,000 from the town budget. The lack of a quorum could be costly to the town, according to the Finance Committee's report on the meeting.

"Lack of a quorum to vote the necessary budget reductions could cause an expensive delay in the mailing of tax bills," the FinCom reported.

The Special Town Meeting is set for 7 p.m. in the J. Everett Collins Center.

The three-article warrant includes one request to cut $645,000 from the town budget approved in June and two requests to re-allocate funds within the budget.

The cuts are in response to less state aid and lower local revenues than forecast.

Warren Shute, 94, of 256 North Main St., is Andover's oldest veteran and the only surviving veteran of World War I in town.

Born in 1896, he signed up when he was about 19 years old.

"I had to wait a year because we didn't have any planes," Mr. Shute said. "My dad was trying to get me into the What's open Veterans Day?

Although Veterans Day falls on Sunday this year, the federal holiday will be celebrated Monday, Nov. 12.

Almost all federal, state and local government offices will shut down next Monday, but many businesses will keep working.

The Townsman office will be open. But due to the holiday, Friday, Nov. 9, is the deadline for news releases and display advertising, at 5 p.m. The deadline for classified ads is Tuesday, Oct. 13, at noon.

Here's a quick guide to what will be open — and what won't — next Monday.

Banks: closed.
Pharmacies: open.
Library: closed.
Liquor stores: open.
Post office: closed.
Schools: closed.
Supermarkets: open.
Town offices: closed.

To cut $645,000

A decrease in state aid and an increase in county assessments resulted in $500,000 less on the cherry sheets than anticipated. A slowdown in new construction resulted in a $200,000 shortfall in new growth revenues for the town.

Adjustments in spending and revisions in revenue and expenditure estimates have brought the need for cuts down to the $645,000.

Article 1

The proposed cuts in Article 1 include $146,000 from municipal maintenance, $205,648 from school salaries and $93,352 from other school expenses.

It also requests a $200,000 reduction of two appropriations. A $120,000 reduction in insurance expenses is possible because of a premium discount. An $80,000 adjustment in the health insurance appropriation is due to a negotiated decrease in the required deposit on claims.

The proposed cuts will mean municipal maintenance will have to defer plans to install a $30,000 security system in the high school and cut out a $100,000 asbestos removal program in the schools. The other $16,000 is a reduction on the estimated cost of improvements for the public safety building.

The school cuts include a $164,848 salary contingency, $38,000 for a readiness teacher (never hired), $2,800 from intramurals salaries and $93,352 from expenses.

The Board of Selectmen, School Committee and Finance Committee have all voted to recommend approval of the cuts in Article 1.

Private articles

Both private articles request the re-allocation of monies from one account to another in order to save five positions that have been cut in two departments.

Article 2 requests a transfer of up to $50,000 from projects and equipment expenses to personnel in the Municipal Maintenance budget to save two positions. Article 3 requests a transfer of up to $80,000 in the Public Works Department budget to save three positions.

The Finance Committee recommends disapproval of the two private articles because the expense budgets in those two departments have already been cut.

"To cut expenses further in those areas in order to retain employees makes no sense. Andover cannot afford to pay wages and benefits for workers who will not have the supplies and equipment to do their jobs. There is little or no hope that Andover will have funds for those positions next year either," the committee reported.

Selectmen have not taken a position on articles 2 and 3.

Revised totals

Andover approved a $57.2 million budget in June. The revised budget, if approved at the Special Town Meeting, will be $56.6 million.

School operations would be reduced from $22.3 million to $22 million. Town operations would remain the same at $14.7 million for a total operations budget of $36.7 million.

Total fixed, joint and offset expenditures, for expenses such as water and sewer, insurance and debt service, will be reduced from $20.2 to $19.9 million.

Weightman in Navy

Keith Weightman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard G. Weightman of Andover, recently enlisted in the Navy and is undergoing recruit training at Orlando, Fla.

Mr. Weightman, 18, a graduate of Andover High School, enlisted for guaranteed training as a Navy diver.

Navy divers initially undergo 12 weeks of training either at Washington, D.C., Norfolk, Va., San Diego, Calif., or Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. They perform underwater maintenance while using a variety of diving equipment and make minor repairs on their equipment.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Firefighter graduates from 7-week program

Chief Harold Hayes of the Andover Fire Department announces the recent graduation of Henry A. Houle from the Massachusetts Firefighting Academy's seven-week Recruit Firefighting Program.

The program, which is offered tuition free to municipal firefighters in the commonwealth, is designed to provide new firefighters with the basic skills necessary to insure effective performance in their jobs.

The students' primary concern was learning basic firefighting skills but they were also introduced to more advanced topics, such as public fire education training, hazardous materials and stress management.

Students receive classroom training in all the basic firefighting skills, such as ladders, hose and protective breathing apparatus, and the classroom training is reinforced by performing practical field evolutions — first under non-fire conditions and then during controlled fire conditions.

November is Hospice Month

The Andover Board of Selectmen has issued a proclamation officially recognizing November as National Hospice Month for the town of Andover. The Board of Selectmen joins President George Bush and the U.S. Congress in recognizing the growing number of hospice programs that provide care for terminally ill people and support for their families. Nationwide last year, more than 200,000 patients and families used hospice services.

Merrimack Valley Hospice, an affiliate of the Home Health Foundation, has been providing hospice care to Andover and surrounding communities since 1981. The hospice concept advocates care of the patient and family by attending to their physical, emotional, social and spiritual needs, said Raymond Brockill, director of Merrimack Valley Hospice. Hospice care is provided by an interdisciplinary team of physicians, nurses, social workers, pastoral counselors and volunteers.

Hospice is primarily a concept of care, rather than a specific place, Mr. Brockill said. The majority of hospice services are delivered in the home, with in-patient care as needed. Hospice is now nationally recognized as an alternative to traditional hospital care, he said.

During National Hospice Month, the Merrimack Valley Hospice speakers bureau is available to speak to local and regional community, business and religious groups on such topics as a volunteerism, living with grief and the hospice alternative.

To schedule a speaker or for more information on National Hospice Month activities or the volunteer program, call Mr. Brockill.

Veterans Day services to be held Sunday

The Andover Veterans Day services will be held Sunday, Nov. 11, with two services planned.

The first one will be at the American Legion Monument in Spring Grove Cemetery at 11 a.m. and the second at the Korean-Vietnam Monument in Ballardvale at 11:30 a.m.

Father Roland Petinge, O.F.M., of Saint Francis Friary will be the guest speaker at the Spring Grove service. Stephen Gawlick and Katherine Kim, Andover High School students and winners of the school's Veterans Day essay contest, will be the speakers at the Ballardvale Green services.

All interested citizens are invited to join in observing this day of remembrance to our veterans.

It's another Town Meeting

The Board of Selectmen Monday night set the dates of the annual spring Town Meeting for March 1, 2 and 8.

The meeting will start Monday,

March 1, and will continue to Tuesday night and again to the following Monday, March 8, if needed.

The annual town elections are scheduled for Monday, March 25.

Going away? Fill out your census form first

Town Clerk Randy Hanson would like to remind residents that are planning to spend the winter in sunny Florida or any environs other than Andover to be sure and fill out a census form before they go.

Andover does a town census in January and anyone who does not respond will be taken off the voter list and out of the town listing.

Talk is on 'Marketing Yourself'

Ms. Bailin founded the Rabb Planning Center Inc. in 1988. She is a former investment analyst for the Boston-based venture capital consulting firm Hutcheson and Co. and independent consultant for researching and writing business plans.

Ms. Bailin received a bachelor of arts degree from Harvard/Radcliffe College magna cum laude in 1984 and her master of business administration degree from Harvard Business School in 1988 with second-year honors.

The breakfast costs $10 for Network members, $12 for guests.

Sanft is in 'Who's Who'

Renee Diana Sanft of Andover has been named to the 1990 edition of "Who's Who Among Rising Young Americans." A former staff member of WROR-FM, she is a freelance radio and television reporter/producer.

Correction

Due to a reporting error, a story in last week's Townsman on the candidates' debate incorrectly attributed a quote to Rep. Susan Tucker.

"That's who I want to tax. Not the working people but the wealthy," was actually a quote by Sen. Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence), responding to a question on the graduated income tax.

COOKING

Kids cook for Thanksgiving

By Maria Moskos

I started teaching children's cooking as a community project when I was a college student and have enjoyed and marveled at the enthusiasm, capability and creativity of young people in the kitchen. Children, unlike many adults, are not intimidated in the kitchen.

Several years ago I held a Thanksgiving dinner workshop for children in Andover who wished to participate in the preparation of an entire Thanksgiving dinner, the proper coordination and setting of the table, the making of the table arrangement and the celebrating and sharing of the Thanksgiving feast. I have observed that children, for the most part, love to eat and enjoy the fun and independence of cooking themselves.

Children can make their own placemats. For Thanksgiving, using poster paper for disposable ones or inexpensive plastic placemats that can be cut into needed shapes and used again. For a pilgrim motif the boys could make black pilgrim hat-shaped placemats and the girls white pilgrim bonnets. The napkin rings could be made of black felt with a buckle on top to resemble the buckle on a pilgrim's shoe or black and white napkins can be folded in the shape of a boat to simulate the Mayflower. During the three-hour workshop, the children prepared the table setting and food, enjoyed the feast and cleaned up. How many adults can do all of this in three hours?

Sweet potato casserole

Pumpkin cake

Due to the time needed to cook a turkey and because I wanted each child to experience the entire process of preparing a bird, I chose to use Cornish hens.

Pilgrim punch

1 qt. bottle cranberry juice cocktail, chilled

1 46 oz. can pineapple juice, chilled

3 tbsp. lemon juice
1/4 cup sugar

1/2 bottle ginger ale, chilled

In a punch bowl combine cranberry juice cocktail, pineapple and lemon juice. Stir in sugar until dissolved. Add ginger ale.

Makes 25 4-ounce servings.

Spiced cranberry sauce

1 cup water
1 and 1/4 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white sugar

1/2 cup white vinegar

2 tsp. whole cloves
2 sticks cinnamon

4 cups fresh cranberries

Combine 1 cup water, 1 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup white sugar, vinegar, cloves and cinnamon in a saucepan and boil rapidly for five minutes. Remove the cloves and the cinnamon. Add four cups cranberries and boil about five minutes more, or until the cranberries burst open. Cool. Makes three 1/2 cups.

Roast Cornish game hen

1 hen per person
1/2 lime

1/3 cup chopped onion

Karen Carpenter, left, chairperson of the board for the Merrimack Valley United Fund and president of BayBanks Mortgage Corp., is shown with Helen Shadallah-Davis of Raytheon Company, an executive who has been loaned to the United Fund to help raise money.

United Fund trains 'loaned executives'

The Merrimack Valley United Fund recently provided training to "Loaned Executives" from four companies that have volunteered the services of their employees to the fund for the duration of three months.

Geraldine Caffrey from Lawrence Savings Bank, Edward Davis from Massachusetts Electric Co., Helen Shadallah-Maclaren from Raytheon Co. and George Pita from United Parcel Service completed a week-long training course in selling skills, public speaking and fundraising methods. Upon graduation from the course, these four individuals have been making campaign presentations and lending a hand in the drive throughout the Merrimack Valley and Southern New Hampshire on a full-time basis.

Karen H. Carpenter, chairperson of the board for the Merrimack Valley United Fund and president of BayBanks Mortgage Corp., presented the certificates at the graduation.

"The fund is grateful to these companies who have proven their commitment to improving the quality of life in the community by lending us the talents of these four employees," she said.

"There are so many people out there that just aren't aware of the tremendous amount of good the United Fund accomplishes. I'm having a lot of fun helping educate the community and working for a great cause," Mrs. Shadallah-Maclaren said.

The Merrimack Valley United Fund raises monies for health and human service agencies and addresses community problems across the Merrimack Valley and Southern New Hampshire. Last year the fund helped 203,795 individuals through agency services.

The campaign drive is scheduled to conclude by the end of November. The campaign goal is $5.9 million.

Andover Bancorp down 77 cents a share in third quarter

Andover Bancorp Inc. announced its operating results for the third quarter of 1990. The Bancorp's assets at Sept. 30, 1990, were $672 million. As of the same date, the Bancorp's capital was $91.3 million, with a capital to assets ratio of 13.6 percent.

For the third quarter, Andover Bancorp had a net loss of $3.2 million or 77 cents per share compared to net income of $1,660,000 or 38 cents per share for the corresponding period in 1989. The quarter's results included a net loss, before the effect of taxes, on the sale and write down of securities and the sale of loans, amounting to $710,000, compared to a net gain of $709,000 in the third quarter of 1989. The net loss also included a quarterly loan loss provision of $2 million, a loss on real estate operations of $2.1 million and the write off of merger related expenses of $1.3 million.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the net loss amounted to $2.3 million or 56 cents per share, compared to net income of $4.6 million or $1.02 per share for the corresponding period of 1989. The 1990 year-to-date loss included a net loss on the sale and write down of securities and the sale of loans, amounting to $423,000, compared to a net gain of $1.1 million during the first nine months of 1989. Included in the 1990 year-to-date results was a loan loss provision of $5.1 million and a loss on real estate operations of $2.2 million.

At Sept. 30, the bank's non-performing assets totaled $39.6 million, compared to $39.1 million at June 30, 1990, and $27.6 million at Dec. 31, 1989. Net charge-offs for the current quarter were $1.4 million compared to $827,000 in the third quarter of 1989. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, net charge-offs amounted to $4.4 million, compared to $1.1 million for the corresponding period of 1989.

Robert M. Henderson, chairman and chief executive officer, said, "The loss for the third quarter was a result of a variety of factors including a loss on the sale of property acquired through foreclosure and the write down of certain investments to their estimated current market value. Also included in the third quarter was the write off of costs relating to the proposed merger with First Essex Bancorp, which was terminated by both parties on Oct. 10, 1990. In light of the continuing deterioration in the real estate market and the New England economy, additional loan loss provisions were deemed necessary. Despite the results for the current quarter, Andover Bancorp continues to have a capital to assets ratio that is well in excess of all current and proposed regulatory requirements."

Andover Bancorp Inc. is the parent bank holding company of Andover Bank, a FDIC/DIFM insured Massachusetts chartered savings bank organized in 1834 and headquartered in Andover.

The bank operates branch banking offices in West Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Tewksbury.

Andover Bancorp's annual shareholder meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 19 at 10 a.m. at the Andover Marriott, 123 Old River Road.

Recycling here is successful

By Virginia Cole

Progress report: An interview with Bob McQuade, director of public works, this week provided the bench mark for the success of Andover's curbside recycling program. Thirty-nine tons per week of glass and paper recycled will allow Andover to break even financially on the cost of the curbside pickup. In August we averaged 52 tons per week; in September, 56 tons; and although the figures aren't all in for October it will probably be 59 or 60 tons.

This is a success and means the town can pay for the program. The comparisons are not yet completely specific as Andover Recycling had only estimates of glass recycled and the town now has figures for total glass and paper tonnage and as yet no breakdown of the two. But we can tell you that last year we recycled 171 tons in August as against 208 tons this year; 150 tons in September as against 224 tons this year; and 150 tons in October with 240 tons projected

THE SPINE

From front to back the spine should be straight up and down.

A side view of the normal spine should show four curves—two curves to the front and two to the back.

An auto accident, a severe fall or injury can cause these vertebrae to become subluxated causing pressure on the spinal nerves. Every organ in the body has a nerve supply and any time these nerves are pinched by misaligned vertebrae they can cause various discomforts—headaches, back or neck tension, shoulder pain, etc. That leads us to ask:

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC AND HOW CAN IT HELP?

Chiropractic Care is a Drugless Natural Way to Good Health!

Discovered by D.D. Palmer in 1895, chiropractic today is widely recognized as a primary health care system and is included within the Medicare and Medicaid programs along with 640 insurance companies.

Many people think that chiropractic deals only with back problems—this is a misconception which we would like to explain. CHIROPRACTIC deals with the spinal column and the spinal cord which carries all the vital nerves of the entire body. The science of Chiropractic is founded on the premises that adequate nerve supply is of prime importance in regulating body function.

Chiropractors use this scientific principle to maintain health and to correct the cause of disease. The soundness of its basic principle is documented by countless sufferers restored to good health by Chiropractic care.

There is no way that we can tell you all about Chiropractic care in a few short paragraphs—but a short visit to or office and we can answer any questions that you may have.

RECYCLING

The experts expect these figures to level off but we are still expecting greater participation in numbers of families recycling and probably a good deal more glass recycled. When we go around the streets there are lots of blue bins out, but not all of them have much glass.

We urge you to really start saving those pickle jars and wine bottles. Glass is heavy and really doesn't burn so get it out of the waste stream and into a place that will reuse it.

Waste Management, the company that picks up Andover's recyclable paper and glass, keeps very accurate records as to who is recycling. They, and now I, have a record of how many stops the truck makes at how many houses on each street.

In September, the most stops collected were on the third Monday with 810 houses having recyclables picked up. On the fourth Thursday, 94 percent of the houses in town were recycling. These are the highs and something for us all to work for.

The actual weekly participation average in September was 68 percent. Waste Management reports that all collection days increased the second time around. I'm looking forward to the October figures.

I hope you are still with us through these statistics because here comes the important part: money. The town now pays $66 per ton to dump trash at the incinerator. The 224 tons recycled in September equals $14,784 not spent for dumping.

We can't say that we have the actual cash savings of that amount because the recycling pick-up company has to be paid. But as the tonnage increases, his fee will not.

Then there will be money available to lower the tax rate or to go to other important needs. Remember, 60 percent of Andover's budget goes to schools; 60 percent of money saved will go there, too.

Band marches away from season with gold

The Andover High School Marching Band concluded its competition season by earning a gold medal and placing second in Division II at the New England Scholastic Band championship finals held last Sunday in Foxboro.

"Yesterday's strong performance was a rewarding climax to a season of hard work," said band director Marc Keroack. "The students and staff can feel proud of the achievements that we've attained. Finishing fifth out of 35 competing bands is an impressive feat."

Before the trip to Foxboro on Sunday morning, the band put in a final hour of drill at the high school. Band members said they were looking forward to bringing home the gold and a high placement.

The band and spectators were not disappointed. The musicians' 10-minute performance included the use of a 10-square-yard fabric prop and flags manipulated precisely by the color guard. The band played while forming intricate configurations, and jazz soloists gave a final send-off as the band wound its way off the field to pass in review.

Here are the members of the band:

Drum major: Maureen Mitchell.

Color guard: Capt. Laurie Pelletier, Sefany Andreadis, Kathy Ciacia, Laura Craven, Holly Donahue, Amanda Nichols, Abby Parsons, Laurie Pelletier, Christine Scheer, Alaina Schroeder, Jen Thompson, Loren Vella and Lisa Zenofsky.

Woodwinds: Karlene Anderson, Steven Andreadis, Kurt Ballou, Brenda Bushmann, Doug Cullen, Matt D'Elia, Marc Elzweig, Lynn Kim, Jen Lampman, Dave Lewin, Brad Litchfield, Joey McLean, Maureen Mitchell, Beth Ross, Julie Shea, Adam Vella and Rachel Zenofsky.

Brass: Phil Birkby, Ben Dawson, Greg Haley, Peter Ikemoto, Joey Kelley, Adam Lafond, Ben Medler, Tony Mendoza, Mark O'Donnell, Brendan O'Donohue and Geoff Schaake.

Percussion: Dave Froburg, Kerry Galvin, Suzanne Gemmell, Brian Imbro, Steve Neal, Kramer O'Neill and Gail Roberts.

"As a section in the band, the color guard has shown the most progress since last year in ability," Mr. Keroack said. "We hope to be able to recruit more girls to replace our graduating seniors."

Mr. Keroack's staff was also happy with the results. "It was an excellent season," said Tom O'Toole, assistant band director. "They did a super job. It was the best band I've worked with, from band camp right up to the finals."

The other staff members are Intern Ann Couture-White, drill designer Bob Mulvanity, drill instructor Pat Butler, assistant drill instructor Joe McFarland, percussion instructor Peter Furnari and color guard instructor Richard Rigolini.

After the 19th band's performance, awards were presented by Joseph Nee, Andover High's Marching Band finished its competitive season over the weekend in the championship finals. The band came in second in its division, earning 88.7 points.

NESBA's coordinator, assisted by Mr. Keroack, past president, along with three other executive board members. A perfect score is 100, and honor mentions were given to the first runners-up.

Here are the final standings for the first two divisions.

Division I: East Bridgewater, silver (84.8), with honorable mentions to drum major and music; Dedham, silver (83.9), with honorable mention to band front and high music; North Reading, silver (80), with honorable mention to band front and best percussion.

Division II: King Phillip, gold (94), best drum major, band front, percussion and music; Andover, gold (88.7) honorable mention to drum major; Triton, gold (87.7), honorable mention to band front.

Methuen placed second in Division III, with 86 points, and New Bedford, Division IV, took first overall with 96.

The University of Lowell Marching Chiefs performed in exhibition.

The remainder of the Andover band's season includes a performance Friday, Nov. 9, from 3 to 4 p.m. at Hewlett-Packard; Veterans Day services in Ballardvale at 11:30 a.m.; and football games Nov. 17 and 22.

Phillips vs. Exeter in weekend rivalry

By Mike McCleery

The Red Griffins of Exeter, N.H., will wing their way into town this Saturday to renew one of the oldest football rivalries in the country against Phillips Andover Academy. Since the football committee of Andover issued the challenge to Phillips Exeter in the fall of 1877, this game has been the highlight of every season for both teams.

Records are thrown to the wind in a game where desire and intensity rule and odds are constantly defied. This season it appears that Exeter is the favorite. Thousands of fans are expected to spur Andover to victory and to spoil Exeter's hope of a win in enemy territory.

This 110th meeting will pit the Griffins' strong running game against the potent passing attack of Andover.

The game begins at 1:30 p.m. and is just one of many taking place at Andover this weekend.

The girls' varsity soccer team will also take on a tough squad from Exeter in what could be a preview of post-season play.

The team boasts a 10-0 record and a number-one ranking in New England Prep school soccer. Exeter is also one of the top prep teams, and this could be the game that determines the seeding in tournament play.

Coach Karen Kennedy was girls' junior varsity soccer coach at Andover High School in 1979, the year that program was born. In 1980 she took over as head coach, and the tide began to turn. After experiencing two tough seasons in 1980 and 1981, the team won the Cape Ann League the following year with an undefeated record. Andover is now a perennial power with a state championship in 1987. By that time however, Ms. Kennedy had moved up the street to Phillips Academy.

"It was a fluke, really," Ms. Kennedy said. "I was coaching the girls' varsity tennis team at Andover, and I called PA about a schedule change. As a joke I asked if they

What goes on behind the scenes

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Eleven Andover High School students are hammering, painting and set designing their way to course credits. They are part of the first student seminar program sponsored by the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts technical staff.

Mark Olivere, the Collins Center's technical director, oversees the projects, which range from stage lighting operations to set design and painting. Mr. Olivere and the students are currently working on the student production of "You Can't Take It with You," playing at the high school Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 9 and 10, at 7:30 p.m.

When the students enter the program they are interviewed by Mr. Olivere and other staffers to assess each student's interests and talents and previous experiences in both theater and non-theater areas. From this information a project is mutually agreed upon.

"These kids are great," said Mr. Olivere. "I've worked with college kids before, and these kids here are equally as committed. They want to learn and they are willing to work."

Mr. Olivere said he was amazed to find that the students volunteered a lot of their free time during the school day to work on the projects.

"Their timing is great. It seemed whenever I needed help one or two students would show up looking for something to work on," Mr. Olivere said.

In addition to preparing lighting designs and staffing the stage crews for student productions, the 11 students also work on Collins Center professional productions.

Students receive a half or a full credit in the school's community service program.

Bancroft puts money where its mouth is More than 800 Massachusetts schools, including Bancroft Elementary School, have registered to participate in the Pepsi School Caps Challenge, representing more than 35 percent of all schools in the state.

Originally launched in the spring by Pepsi-Cola and its local bottlers, the program enables schools to redeem bottle caps for cash.

Approximately 30 percent of the total eligible New England schools - 6,515 schools - have registered for the program to date.

School Caps has expanded to include schools in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut and parts of New York, Maine and Vermont.

All types of schools - public and private, grades kindergarten through 12 - are eligible to participate in the fund-raising campaign.

Schools that have registered for the program can collect specially marked blue and white "school caps" on two-liter bottles of Pepsi products.

For each cap collected, registered schools will receive 5 cents and may use the money however they choose.

The specially marked caps are available through Dec. 31 or while supplies last.

"Pepsi-Cola and its local bottlers firmly believe that corporations have a responsibility to the communities in which we live," said Ken Kimmel, area marketing manager for Pepsi-Cola. The program "offers the opportunity for Pepsi-Cola and community members to contribute to our children's education."

Lisa Weiner enters Wheaton

Lisa M. Weiner of Andover has entered the class of 1994 at Wheaton College in Norton.

Ms. Weiner, daughter of Nadia Mahfuz, was one of about 415 first-year and transfer students to enter the coeducational college.

As part of this year's orientation program, new students participated in community Service Day. Among the 35 projects tackled that day, student volunteers constructed a play yard at a homeless shelter and cleared brush at conservation areas.

Grant helps town's schools combat drugs

By Lisa A. Boudreau

For the fourth year in a row, Andover has received a grant to fight drug and alcohol abuse through education and awareness programs in the schools.

The $25,000 in federal funds, distributed through the Governor's Alliance for Drug Free Schools, will be used for awareness and education programs, said Brenda O'Brien the schools' health education coordinator.

"This grant money has really been a great opportunity for the schools," which have experienced cuts across the board along with other programs during the past 18 months, said Ms.

O'Brien.

"The money provides an extra boost for staff training, curriculum development and community- and student-based services and activities," she said.

The money has allowed for expansion of a community awareness program begun 10 years ago by the League of Women Voters into the broad-based program that now encompasses the general community and schools and law enforcement officials. Now there are education and awareness programs in all Andover schools, grades kindergarten through 12, said Ms. O'Brien.

The funding was made available to state agencies through the Drug Free Schools Act, which was signed into law more than four years ago. The town received $19,000 the first year and has since received approximately $25,000 each subsequent year, said Ms. O'Brien.

Some of the money will also go toward funding activities for the community Assessment, Support and Knowledge team.

The ASK team consists of community members, teachers, students and law enforcement officers. The money will also fund curriculum development, educational materials and special substance-abuse awareness events.

Day-care center holds open house

Discovery Toys will be sold at Bright Horizons Children's Center's open house Friday, Nov. 9, from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Parents can learn about the center's before- and after-school programs.

VoTech's building fund gets donation

Greater Lawrence Technical School in Andover has been awarded a $5,000 donation to its house building fund.

Robert Fraser, president of the board of directors of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, presented the award to Louis E. Gleason, superintendent/director of the technical school. The grant is in recognition of the school's "dedication and hard work" over the years in support of the Greater Lawrence Revolving Loan Fund, which was created in 1978.

The fund offers second mortgage loans to families who buy and occupy multiple-family homes in Lawrence. The fund was started with no government monies and has never used public funds over the years, Mr. Gleason said. Eighty-seven families have been able to buy homes with the help of the fund, he said.

The Greater Lawrence Technical School has been recognized for the completion of its 12th house. Students and teachers complete one home annually. The proceeds of these homes go directly into the Greater Lawrence Revolving Loan Fund.

Andover woman receives college award

Ruth Ann Lange of Andover received a recognition award from Curry College during the recent 20th-anniversary celebration of the college's Program for Advancement of Learning, the nation's first college-level program for the learning disabled.

Ms. Lange completed the nationally recognized learning program while earning a bachelor's degree at Curry, which is located in Milton. She graduated from Curry in 1985.

After graduating, she became a Peace Corps worker in Thailand.

After her Peace Corps stint, she started an interpreting service that counted the United Nations and National Geographic among its clients. She is living in Pittsburgh while she completes the master's degree program in public administration at Carnegie-Mellon University.

Ms. Lange was one of eight Curry alumni honored for their career accomplishments at the PAL's anniversary celebration, which took place in Boston.

PAL was established at Curry in 1970 to aid the learning disabled in their academic careers.

Girl Scouts earn badges

Girl Scouts in Troops 212 and 405 Brownie Troop 741 fulfilled their requirements for their "horse-lovers" badges at Honey Lane Horse Farm in Dublin, N.H.

During the two-day overnight stay, the scouts were taught the basics for beginner equestrians, including mounting and dismounting, safety, the psychology of the horse, feeding, lameness, grooming, shoeing, stable management and the selection and care of tack.

Each Scout was given the responsibility of caring for her selected horse for the weekend: grooming, cleaning hoofs and maintaining stalls.

At the end of the program, the Scouts were challenged by vaulting lessons which are gymnastics on horseback, in addition to a trail ride through the New Hampshire woods.

Contest honors community service

The clubs and troops of 13 million young Americans are planning community-service projects to enter in Colgate's 18th annual Youth for America campaign, which presents cash grants for the best such programs by local units of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire, 4-H, Boys Clubs and Girls Inc. (formerly Girls Clubs).

"Jeopardy" host Alex Trebek, singer Dionne Warwick and actor Chris Young head this year's judging panel, which will choose the nation's top programs.

More than 200 winners will receive checks from Colgate-Palmolive Co. for up to $2,000.

Youngsters have until March 15 to devise and execute ideas that will help their communities and send reports to the Youth for America campaign.

This national youth program was launched by Colgate-Palmolive Co. in 1972 to promote community responsibility among America's youth, said Reuben Mark, chairman and chief executive officer of Colgate-Palmolive.

Participants range from 4- and 5-year-olds to high school teen-agers.

In past years, winning projects have included anti-drug-abuse, environmental preservation, senior-citizen assistance and restoration projects, Mr. Mark said.

The Colgate program has contributed more than $4 million in grants.

The panel will review the finalists' entries and decide which local units will receive prizes.

Entry forms are available through the regional offices of the national organizations, and additional forms may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Colgate's Youth for America, P.O. Box 1058, FDR Station, New York, N.Y. 10150-1058.

Another example of Raytheon's continuing support of education.

The success of the Massachusetts Academic Decathlon has made winners out of all of us.

Students, parents, and educators all have a right to stand up and cheer.

In just five years, the Massachusetts Academic Decathlon, with support from Raytheon as major corporate sponsor, has grown into one of the most exciting events in high school. This year, more than sixty schools are participating.

All across the state, high school teams of nine students with A, B, and C averages will compete in a series of ten scholastic contests on subjects ranging from science to the fine arts.

The competition is such that often average students are motivated more than ever and perform exceptionally.

On March 2, the winning teams of the regional contest will meet in the state finals at Waltham High School. The state champion will then represent Massachusetts in the national finals in Los Angeles.

Raytheon is proud that several of our employees serve as judges for the oral portion of the Massachusetts competition. In addition, D.C. Heath, our educational publishing company, provides the Decathlon study guide that is used across the country.

All in all, Raytheon supports more than twenty education programs across Massachusetts aimed at grade schools, high schools, and colleges.

Because nothing is more fundamental to our success than education.

Raytheon employees get involved. Helping to judge the Academic Decathlon are Mary Carly, Joseph Geoghegan, and Christine LaPierre.

Ulowell registers students for winter term

The University of Lowell's division of continuing education is taking registrations for its new winter intersession. For the first time, students at the university can earn college credit during their winter break so they can accelerate their program of study. Students from other institutions and returning home for the holidays can take advantage of this three-week format to earn transfer credits.

The winter intersession term begins Wednesday, Jan. 2, and ends Friday, Jan. 18. Classes will be held every weekday from 9 a.m. to noon. Credit courses are available in chemistry, computer mathematics, criminal justice, economics, engineering technology, English, languages, management science, mathematics, music philosophy, political science, psychology and sociology. The cost is $85 per credit with a $15 registration fee. Some courses require an additional $25 laboratory fee.

Several non-credit courses are also scheduled. Workshops in self-assessment, career development and job-search techniques have been designed to assist students in developing skills they need to succeed in the job market. A course on Lotus 1-2-3 will also be offered.

Students can register for winter intersession classes in person, by telephone or by mail.

Student pursues skiing at school

Brenda Petzold, 17, daughter of Paul and Linda Petzold of Andover, received high honors for the first ranking period of the year at Carrabassett Valley Academy, where she is a 12th-grade student.

Located at the base of Sugarloaf/USA in Maine, CVA, Maine's only coeducational ski academy, attracts students who are serious about combining an academic program with ski and snowboard training programs.

As part of the school schedule, the student-athlete concentrates on college preparatory studies and follows daily, rigorous dryland and on-snow training in his/her discipline.

Ms. Petzold participates in the freestyle program under the direction of Joan McWilliams.

"Brenda is an important member of our small community because the success of the school is measured by the collective achievement of each student's individual goals," said Headmaster John Ritzo. "Brenda is working hard, both academically and athletically."

Women, Child Support & Divorce

If you are separated from your husband you may feel bound to accept your husband's determination of what is a reasonable figure for weekly child support payments, either because you are afraid he may fight you for custody if you do not accept, or because you feel a Court will not award you any more than he is offering anyway. Before you agree to something which is inadequate for your needs and your children's, you should contact an attorney who can advise you relative to your rights, your responsibilities and the standards a Court is likely to apply.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Childbirth with a minimum of medication is better for you and the babe. One of the most popular method is The Lamaze Method of Prepared Childbirth. It was originated in the Soviet Union by disciples of Ivan Pavlov and refined by a French obstetrician, Dr. Ferdinand Lamaze. It has become widespread in the U.S. during the past 15 years through the efforts of the American Society for Prophylaxis in Obstetrics (ASPO). ASPO prefers the phrase "prepared childbirth" to "natural childbirth," which the group thinks gives mother the idea they can't have medication if they wish or require it. Discomfort is overcome by breathing, relaxation, and dissociation techniques.

YOUTH LINE

The Townsman runs a continuing column, Youth Line. Anyone who wishes, adult or child, is encouraged to call or write and ask a question, which will be answered by three people: a member of the Peer Leadership Corps at Andover High School; Laura Goodman, a psychotherapist who works at the Delphi Center, 68 Park St.; and Perry Catlin, a parent who is editor of the Townsman.

People may phone the peer leaders at the Delphi Center, 475-8690, Mondays from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. to ask the question, or they may write it down and send it to the Delphi Center or to the Townsman, 89 N. Main St.

Dear Youth Line:

My question concerns how parents can best deal with neighbors and their teen-agers' disruptive and abusive friends.

Specifically, what can one do when a neighbor's teen-age son brings over a collection of friends who are rude, destructive and openly combative to the neighborhood? The neighbor and her son deny that there is in fact a problem. Please let me know.

Frustrated neighbor

Dear Frustrated neighbor:

As a teen-ager speaking, I feel that you should try and talk to your neighbor's son and see what his thoughts are about what is happening. Most teen-agers do things like that just for the attention, and if they know that someone might be bothered by it, they will most likely keep on doing it. Talk to him about it; there is always the chance that he might take into consideration what you are saying.

Remember, teen-agers aren't all that bad.
Peer counselor

Dear Frustrated neighbor:

What a difficult position for you to be in. Unfortunately, it sounds as if your attempt to approach the son and his mother was not successful. This non-threatening approach would have been my first suggestion.

You cannot take the law into your hands, nor can you control someone else's child. At this point, it appears as if your best bet is to file a complaint with the local police department and defer the responsibility onto them.
Psychotherapist

Dear Frustrated neighbor:

I would hang in there and do everything possible before calling the police. Years ago, I saw a neighborhood boy stealing gasoline from my car in the middle of the night. I called the police, and when they brought him before me, right in my driveway that evening, I said I couldn't be sure if he was the culprit. The next day he came to my house and without saying a word, he cut my grass.

Your situation may not have as happy an ending, but I think it's worth more talk. Why not show him this column? He and his mom may get the idea.

Student nominates teacher to national list

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Teachers' toughest critics in many cases are their former students. Richard Evans, 46, an English teacher at Andover High for the past 22 years, was recently honored with a national award that he was nominated for by a former student.

He was nominated by Michael Clement, a 1990 graduate of Andover High, to the "Who's Who Among America's Teachers" list. Mr. Evans was one of 24,500 teachers nationwide named to the list by former students who themselves are listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

The students were asked to nominate teachers who made a difference in their lives by either helping to shape their values, inspiring interests or challenging them to strive for excellence.

Mr. Clement "was an excellent student who overcame a lot to do so well," Mr. Evans said. "He set very high standards for himself. If I had more students like Michael, my job would be a lot easier."

Mr. Clement, who is profoundly deaf, was a National Honor Society student at Andover High, and he was the class salutatorian. He is now a freshman at Princeton University.

Teaching high school English has changed during the 22 years since Mr. Evans began at Andover High. His duties now include teaching interdisciplinary humanities courses, writing improvement classes as well as 20th-century literature. He said many students today don't have the attention span or self-discipline students of 10 and 15 years ago had.

"Teaching today can be very difficult," said Mr. Evans.

He said the influence of television in children's lives has grown during the past two decades.

"Television can be a strong learning vehicle, but watching television is also effortless. Many students come into my classroom, and they aren't used to the demands participating in class puts on them," he said.

To get students interested in learning Mr. Evans has the students participate as much as possible in his classroom. Participating involves round-table-style discussions of materials they've read as well as students' presentations.

Mr. Evans said he's learned probably as much as the students have from the students' role playing. Sometimes the little mistakes the students make, such as talking to only one-half of the room, remind him of presentation techniques that make teachers more effective educators.

Though Mr. Evans believes teaching isn't always easy, he said there are everyday satisfactions in the job. National recognition is "the icing on the cake."

Mr. Evans lives in Deerfield, N.H. with his wife, Carol.

New Star Market

'It's definitely a big deal'

By Don Staruk

"It's definitely a big deal," said Ralph Heselton, of 42 Ballardvale Road. "Anyone south of Phillips Academy will love it."

"Yes. Absolutely," said Thomas Regan, of 37 Holt Road. "I'm certainly going to give Star a shot."

These and many other Andover residents are anxiously awaiting this Saturday's grand opening of the new Star Market Plus grocery store on Route 28, just half a mile over the Andover line in North Reading. The new store is in the same spot as the old Atlantic supermarket, which closed about two years ago.

The new 65,000-square foot store opens with a ribbon cutting ceremony this Saturday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 a.m.

Mr. Heselton said the store will be good for Andover residents south of town who find the traffic on Main Street difficult to negotiate to get to DeMoulas Market Basket in Shawsheen Plaza.

Mr. Regan liked taking his mo-ped to Barcelos grocery store downtown before it closed last spring and regrets the new store won't be closer to town. He still won't be able to take his mo-ped but said that once he gets in the car the extra mile or two to Star will be a better option than going through town.

"The south end of town is convenient for us. I'd rather go an extra mile than go through traffic," Mr. Regan said.

But Kathleen Shannon, of 188 Salem St., said she probably won't go out of her way to go down to the new Star Market.

"For general everyday use it's not going to be any more use to me," Ms. Shannon said. "I wish someone would give us a little Seven/Eleven or something out this direction."

Ms. Shannon shops for her family at the DeMoulas Market Basket in North Andover because she travels over that way more often. But she said she might go to Star this Saturday for the special first-day prices.

"I'd make a special trip for the grand opening," she said.

The Star Market Plus will have a full service florist, a bakery and all the convenience of complete one-stop shopping, according to

'The emphasis here is on expanded assortment and a superior level of customer service.'

Romeo Cefalo, vice president of sales and marketing for Star Market

Romeo Cefalo, of 4 Heritage Lane, vice president of sales and marketing for Star Market Companies.

"The emphasis here is on expanded assortment and a superior level of customer service," Mr. Cefalo said in a press release.

Other merchandise and services available will include prepared foods, party platters, one-hour photo processing, lottery tickets, videos, small appliances and cards.

Store hours will be Monday-Saturday, 8 a.m. to midnight, and Sunday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Election results, in addition to those on page 1, are on page 52.

Sports start on page 58 in today's Townsman.

had any opening, and the next thing I knew, I was being interviewed for the job."

Last year's team scored 13 goals over the entire season, while this year's squad has found the back of the net 31 times with one regular season game to go. The defense has been solid, allowing just three goals.

"The resounding word on campus seems to be 'undefeated,'" said Capt. Alex Thompson.

Michelle Doucette of Andover has been doing a fine job in goal, having posted seven shutouts in 10 games.

Stopper back Andrea Duffy, also of Andover, has been a force on defense. She was captain of last year's Andover High team and was a starter on the dream team of 1987.

Nicole Poissin is another Andover product and a dangerous scoring threat.

Experience, hometown talent and good coaching will be put to the test on Saturday morning. Kickoff is at 11:30 a.m., and all are welcome to help boost the team to a perfect season.

Boys' soccer

Boys' soccer also plays Exeter in a game they must win to secure a berth in post season. Reiji Hayes, Mike Famiglietti, Duncan Harris and Mike Sullivan, all of Andover, will play major parts in the outcome of this one. The game will be at 11:45 a.m.

Field hockey

Andover will face Exeter in field hockey and try to win its fifth game in a row after a slow start to the season. Andover's Amie Wilmer is co-captain of the team. This game also starts at 11:45.

Mike McCleery is Phillips Andover's sports information director.

Infant CPR course offered at Holy Family

Holy Family Hospital and Medical Center in Methuen will present a pediatric and infant cardiopulmonary resuscitation course on Saturday, Nov. 17, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the hospital's education department.

"The program will prepare participants to recognize the causes of infant and pediatric cardiac arrest and methods of prevention," said registered nurse Carolyn Perrault, coordinator of patient, family and community health education at the hospital. "In addition, they will learn techniques to externally support the circulation and respiration of infants and young cardiac arrest victims."

Preregistration is required, and there is a $30 fee per person. The program is open to anyone age 17 or older, specifically parents with young children, day-care providers and other professionals who work with children on a daily basis, Ms. Perrault said.

Play group celebrates Thanksgiving

Playful People is a drop-in play group for preschoolers and their parents, who meet each Thursday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. at Trinitarian Congregational Church, 72 Elm St. in North Andover.

The donation is $1 for each parent and $1 for each child over 9 months. No registration is required, and volunteers are welcome.

The church has requested that the group not use the church parking lot. Street parking is available.

Mothers are asked to bring their own covered drinking cups for their children.

Andona Ball raises record amount for projects

Members of the Andona Society get together Saturday during the society's "Midnight Masquerade" ball. Mary Ellen Johnson, center, president of the Andona Society, is flanked by the ball's co-chairwomen, Terry Cutting, left, and Karen Williams. The ball raised more than $5,000 for society fund-raisers, such as scholarships and vision screening for preschoolers.

The Grand Ballroom of the Andover Marriott was transformed into a "Midnight Masquerade" last Saturday night as the Andona Society held its 38th annual ball.

The room sparkled with silver-colored stars and tinsel and swayed with royal blue feathers. The guests feasted on filet mignon, poached salmon, chicken Cape Cod and Black Forest cake. The dance floor was packed as participants swarmed to enjoy the music of Horizon.

A record $5,750 was garnered as approximately 350 people attended the ball.

Events such as the ball help raise funds for the local women's civic organization that donates each year to Andover youth groups and causes in the Greater Lawrence area.

This support comes in the form of college scholarships, camperships to needy children, donations to athletic and extracurricular programs and sponsorship of vision screening for Andover's preschoolers.

Membership to the Andona Society is open to any Andover or North Andover woman, and new members are welcomed annually. For more information, contact Cynthia Fortier, membership committeewoman.

Bible scholar to speak here

Internationally known Old Testament scholar William Holladay will speak at South Church, United Church of Christ, Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Professor Holladay is a member of the panel of scholars who worked for more than 10 years to produce the just-published translation of the Bible known as the "New Revised Standard Version." He is best known for his recently published commentary of Jeremiah.

Professor Holladay is Lowry Professor of Old Testament at Andover Newton Theological School. The lecture is free and all are welcome. South Church is located at 41 Central St.

The oldest Protestant graduate school of theology in the United States, Andover Newton Theological School traces its roots to the desire early in U.S. history for a well-educated clergy, a church official said. That desire began to find expression in Andover with the founding of Phillips Academy in 1778 and the theological school, known as Andover Theological Seminary, in 1808.

In the early 1900s the theological school moved from Andover to Cambridge, and more recently merged formally with Newton to establish the Andover Newton Theological School at Newton Centre.

Temple shows film

Temple Emanuel's adult education committee will present a showing of Pamela Berger's film "The Imported Bridegroom" Saturday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m. The film is a vignette of Jewish immigrant life in turn-of-the-century America.

Filmed in Boston by Cambridge-based writer/director/producer Berger, "The Imported Bridegroom" tells the story of a widowed, self-made Boston landlord who, worried about his entrance into heaven and anxious to find a husband for his beautiful daughter, travels to the Polish town of his youth.

There he meets a brilliant young Talmudic scholar who would not only be a suitable bridegroom for his daughter, but would be available to sing Kaddish, the prayer for the dead, after his passing. He returns to Boston with the young scholar.

However, the daughter has no wish to take

Andover parishioners fast for campaign to end hunger

Every day, 60,000 people die of hunger, two-thirds of them children under 5. One week before Thanksgiving, on Thursday, Nov. 15, local citizens will fast so others may eat.

More than a million Americans will participate in the 17th annual "Fast For a World Harvest," a nationwide campaign sponsored by the international humanitarian agency Oxfam America.

"Too many people have no choice about going hungry," said Rev. Susan Morrison, pastor of the Ballard Vale United Church, one of the churches participating in this year's fast. "We have a choice.... The money we would have spent on food will be donated to Oxfam America."

People are invited to fast during the day, either by a partial fast or by cutting back on snacks, and then join for worship at Christ Church Episcopal at 6:30 p.m.: A light supper of soup and bread will follow as the fast is broken.

Monies raised from the fast will support Oxfam America's self-help projects and disaster relief in poor countries in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean.

For more information on the fast, call Marge Parthum at 475-3108.

Interim minister reflects on church's role

After eight weeks as interim minister of the Unitarian Universalist Church, David B. Parke reflects on his tasks, goals and accomplishments to date for his one-year post.

"The time between the departure of one minister and the settlement of a new minister can be passive time or active time. I prefer active time," Rev. Parke said. "We are actively working toward the goals articulated in our five-year plan, including welcoming new families, increasing income, strengthening the children's program and our outreach to oppressed and neglected persons and communities, including the poor, the homeless, battered women and children, lesbian and gay persons and persons with AIDS.

"We are not marking time. We are committed to growing in every aspect of congregational life - and I mean growing in depth of faith, in sensitivity toward persons with backgrounds different from our own and in organizational skills," he said.

In the past decade the Unitarian Universalist Association has established the interim ministry as a form of specialized professional religious leadership. Special training is provided. There is an annual evaluation of the minister by the congregation and of the congregation by the minister.

Many churches experience significant growth in self-understanding during an interim year, said Judith A. Beachler, the church's news coordinator. Congregational morale improves as people talk and listen to one other, she said.

"As dialogue increases, new friendships develop, old animosities fall away and occasions for spiritual growth multiply," Ms. Beachler said. As a result, a new minister, scheduled to begin at the UU Church next September, will find a congregation tuned up and ready to move ahead, Ms. Beachler said.

After a discussion of human needs during the Sept. 30 church service, a number of projects have been expanded and new ones developed. "A priority second to none is outreach to the community and the region," Rev. Parke said. "We need to be mindful of the social, economic and political issues that affect our common life and find ways of becoming involved as individuals and as a congregation in those we deem most important."

Several church committees are making efforts toward social justice in the Merrimack Valley area. These include expansion of the parishioners' volunteer commitment to prepare and serve meals to the hungry and the heavily accented bumpkin as a husband, preferring a Yankee professional. The young scholar discovers the Boston Public Library and, using his vast intelligence, soon begins to make his own way toward the American dream. The comedy then develops some surprising twists.

"The Imported Bridegroom" is based on a short story by Abraham Cahan of the Yiddish language daily The Forward.

Ms. Berger, a professor of art history at Boston College, will be present to narrate interesting stories concerning the film's production.

Admission is $5.50. Light refreshments will be served. Temple Emanuel is homeless at Bread and Roses in Lawrence. The church is also trying to organize a non-profit corporation that will help make land available for affordable housing.

Other projects in the works are peer support programs to help alienated young people gain skills and confidence to cope with everyday problems and an Andover-Lawrence connection to lend support to those in need within the Hispanic community.

A classical music concert at the church raised $700 for the Lawrence chapter of Habitat for Humanity, whose mission is to make decent affordable housing available to deserving, low-income families. A basic Spanish language program has also been set up to prepare interested church members to expand volunteer services to Lawrence's Hispanic community.

Rev. Parke helped the First Unitarian Society in Exeter, N.H., focus on membership, while he was interim minister there from 1988 to 1990. The New Hampshire church's membership increased by 50 percent during the two-year period, while church school enrollment increased by 75 percent.

"Every congregation possesses its own unique capabilities," the minister said. "I am confident that the Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover will continue to occupy a large place in the religious, cultural and ethical life of Andover and the Merrimack Valley in the coming years."

Navy because he was a Navy man."

Althea Morrison, of 36 Rocky Hill Road, his daughter, said Mr. Shute joined the Air Force before it actually existed, and that the Air Force was part of the Army then because planes were so new.

"He went through the Air Corps Academy down at Princeton," she said.

She wasn't sure what year her father signed up. He never talked about his time in the service too much and still doesn't today. Many of his military records, including his dog tags, were lost in a fire two years ago at a home the family had in Maine.

His induction was in Bridgeport, Conn., and he was discharged there also, according to his daughter.

"He was in maybe a year and a half," Mrs. Morrison said.

Mr. Shute served at least part of his time as a member of a life saving corps based on Long Island.

One of his military buddies used to tell Mrs. Morrison that her dad was "quite a hellion," she said.

"If there was anything to do, he did it. He didn't go by the book," she said.

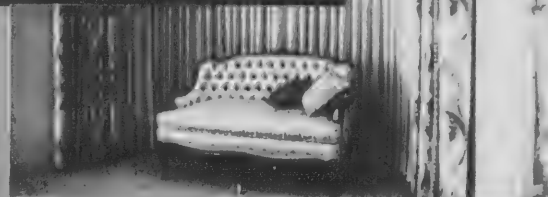

Her father still has a dent in the side of his head from where he was knocked by an airplane wing, Mrs. Morrison said, but she isn't sure how the accident happened.

Mr. Shute said he continued to fly after the service, often at the opening ceremonies for different airports in the area.

Mr. Shute was born and grew up in Melrose. He moved to Andover 11 years ago. His wife, Sara or "Sally" as friends called her, died in February.

Warren Shute, right, of North Main Street, joined the Air Force before there were airplanes. He is Andover's oldest living veteran. At left, is Rocco Mirisola, also of North Main Street.

Revaluation complete Homes are stable; land, commercial property, are down Tax delinquents make good

By Don Staruk

New revaluation figures indicate Andover homes are worth about the same today as they were three years ago, but owners may face a higher tax rate due to a drop in both land and commercial property values, according to William Krajewski, town assessor.

The first revaluation of town property since 1988 is nearly complete and residential land owners should be able to view their assessments within the next two weeks, according to Mr. Krajewski.

"We are very close to finishing. The state is going to start reviewing some of the materials next week," he said last Thursday.

The state needs to approve the assessor's findings before they can be made public. Figures for residential land will be available in a week or so, followed by all residential property, then commercial and industrial assessments within a few weeks. The assessor would like to have all valuations approved by the state in time for the Dec. 1 tax mailing.

"We are hoping to mail out the final value tax bill sometime between Dec. 1 and Dec. 15," Mr. Krajewski said.

The value of residential property in Andover appears to have begun a decline after the 1988 valuation, bottomed out at the end of 1989 and remained relatively stable in 1990, leaving residential assessments just about where they were in 1988, according to Mr. Krajewski.

"On an overall basis, it seems to have remained reasonably flat," he said. "There is a slight decline, but it's very slight, a 2 to 3, maybe 4 percent decline."

Typically, a developed parcel that was valued at $275,000 in 1988 may have risen to $310,000, but now has dropped back to $275,000, according to the assessor.

Although people are fretting a sluggish market, Mr. Krajewski tried to put it into perspective. For several years the market was rising at 30 to 35 percent a year, he said. Now it is declining, but very slowly.

"It's taken about two years to drop about 15 percent," he said.

Land down

"The big changes we've seen is in the price of land," Mr. Krajewski said.

One-acre parcels that were selling for $175,000 in 1988 are going for $115,000 to $125,000 today, according to the assessor. The average land

By Don Staruk

An aggressive campaign by the town treasurer in the last four months collected nearly $1.4 million in delinquent taxes from fiscal years 1989 and 1990 and has helped avoid a revenue shortfall town officials were worried about back in June, according to Tony Torrisi, budget and finance director.

"Now I feel comfortable," Mr. Torrisi said Friday.

Town officials expressed concern this summer that the $1.8 in delinquent taxes from the last two years might be an indication of a trend as a result of the falling real estate market and economy in general.

The outstanding taxes caused a drop in certified free cash, usually between $1.5-3 million, from $1.7 million in July of 1989 to just $200,000 in July of 1990, according to Mr. Torrisi.

"That was lower than it's ever been before," Mr. Torrisi said.

The shortage of free cash could have caused a drop in interest revenue, a rise in interest expense, due to a need for borrowing, and less money for available for appropriations in July of 1991.

The delinquency on tax collections had increased from 1 or 2 percent to 5 percent, according to Mike Muise, town treasurer and tax collector.

"We were down to 95 percent on June 30," Mr. Muise said of the collection rate. "That's what was causing the concern."

value was about $145,000 an acre in 1988. That has dropped about 20 percent, according to Mr. Krajewski.

"That average now is about $115,000," he said.

"Almost everything in town that's available right now is no greater than $135,000. Lots now are available as low as $85,000 to $95,000," Mr. Krajewski said.

"If you have a vacant lot in town, these people most likely will see the biggest decrease in valuation," the assessor said.

Residential impact

"The overall package of a house and a parcel of land really didn't change that much," Mr. Krajewski said of the latest figures.

Several years ago the house/land value ratio was roughly 80/20 percent, according to Mr. Krajewski. At

The treasurer's office mailed individual letters to delinquent tax payers, "and they came through," according to Mr. Muise.

"We're back up to 98 or 99 percent," the treasurer said.

"It's clearly good news," said Joanne Marden, chairwoman of the Finance Committee. "It puts us in a better cash position."

But Ms. Marden pointed out that the collection of outstanding funds has no effect on the cuts that need to be made to the budget at the upcoming Special Town Meeting on Nov. 13.

"They're unrelated. It will help our free cash position, but that doesn't affect the options that have to be taken at Town Meeting," she said. "Those cuts are planned on being able to collect 100 percent."

Collections for this year, fiscal 1991, are also going very well, according to Mr. Muise.

The town has billed out $17 million in estimated tax bills for the first two quarters of fiscal 1991. The treasurer collected approximately $8.4 million in August. The second payment was due by last Thursday, Nov. 1, and he estimates they also will have come in at a very high percentage.

Revaluation has just been completed by the assessor's office and town officials are hoping the new assessment figures will be available in time to make adjustments for the third quarter billing in December.

the height of the market a few years ago, that ratio had changed to approximately 50/50.

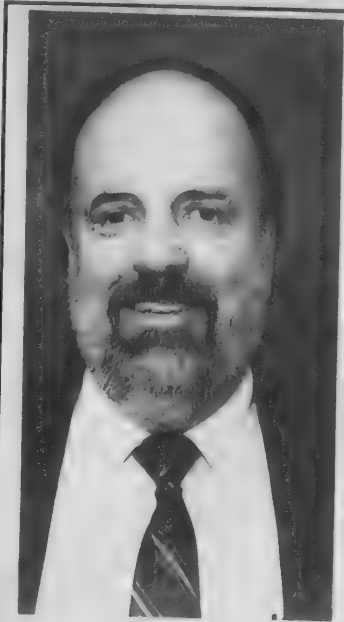

"It had reached bizarre levels," Mr. Krajewski said. "Now it's going back to 65 or 70 percent building and 30 or 35 percent land."

Several developers are in trouble now because they bought several lots at peak market rates, according to the assessor.

"They paid too much money for the land. They can't recoup the money on the house what they lose on the land," he said.

A developer who paid $150,000 for a lot and built a house for another $150,000 needs to sell at $300,000 to break even. If the land value drops 15 percent, $22,500, that difference has to be made up by the value of the

Paul Clinton

He's taking care of the people

By Lisa A. Boudreau

For the past eight years, Paul Clinton, 5 Juliett St., has been working with Lazarus House in Lawrence to see that people who need shelter, food and clothing receive the help they need. He's the development director in charge of raising funds for the programs, which include an over-night shelter, drop-in day shelter and job and housing placement assistance.

Establishing an AIDS home in the city is the latest undertaking for Lazarus House, which has recently been taken to task by opponents for wanting to place "another social service" agency in Lawrence.

Lazarus House and the other service programs under its umbrella are associated with the Marrist Brothers. Mr. Clinton is working closely with Lazarus House founder, Brother Tom Pettite, and others to raise funds and reduce the friction among opponents to make the home a reality.

"There are 36 people who live in Lawrence who have been identified as HIV positive (the virus that attacks the body's immune system and results in Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.) The city needs to take care of its own people," said Mr. Clinton.

Recently, plans for locating the AIDS home in Lawrence met opposition from the city. After sometimes heated confrontations between Lazarus House representative and city counselors, one of whom believed Lawrence already had enough ser-

Voters have spoken!

In Andover, the real election news is Republican Gary Coon's defeat of eight-year incumbent, Democrat Susan Tucker. Winning on a throw-out-the-incumbents mode, Mr. Coon worked hard, walking door-to-door throughout the district, listening to people and gaining their votes.

Susan Tucker has been a good state representative, especially supporting women and school children. But it's not news that this state is in an economic mess and that the state Legislature has been paralyzed. Now there is hope for Massachusetts. Voters have restored a two-party system for the first time in 20 years. With Republican William Weld's win, the two-party system is in place, and Mr. Coon is part of that victory.

Also contributing to the expectation of healthier state politics is the fact that all politicians, Republicans and Democrats alike, have been put on warning. The voters have said, "We don't care what party you represent, we will throw you out if we aren't pleased." Just ask Congressman Chet Atkins about that. He came close to losing his congressional seat, and he, like others, is now on warning. There's nothing like competition to keep our representatives working for us.

So good luck to Gary Coon and we look forward to working with him. Thank you to Sue Tucker, for caring about our education system and for showing concern for battered women, both important issues.

Like Gov. Weld, Rep. Coon should pay attention to what voters said on the ballot questions: no to Question 3, relaying a message that yes the economy is troubled and people's budgets are hurting, but no, we aren't ready to back cuts that threaten all social services.

Carolyn Jones, who works at Andover Animal Hospital, shows off a stray dog that the hospital is trying to place in a home. The male, about 3 or 4 years old, is a cross between a black lab and a rottweiler and hospital personnel report he is very friendly. If you'd like to meet him, call the hospital, which acts as a holding tank for animals picked up in Andover, at 475-3600.

Quality ed group: Attend Special Town Meeting

Editor, Townsman:

The Andover Coalition for Quality Education (ACQE) strongly encourages people go to the special Town Meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 13, when the town will vote on a revised budget.

We feel it is vital for people to keep informed about issues affecting our school system.

At the meeting voters will have a chance to hear from town officials what they expect the impact of the budget will be on our schools, to ask questions about the future of the school system, and to voice their concerns about and commitment to the quality of education in Andover.

The ACQE is a non-partisan, grass-roots organization that sees education as a community mission.

As the state's fiscal constraints grow, we believe citizen involvement in education is more and more essential; our goal is to help people stay informed and get involved. We believe Andover has the resources, commitment and creativity to maintain the integrity of our educational system.

There will be members of the coalition at the Town Meeting if people want to learn more about the group.

She takes issue with selling Andover's water

Editor, Townsman:

Your small news article in the Nov. 1 Townsman "Little opposition to water transfer" (page 3) gave a wrong impression. It could be said there was equally "little" testimony in favor. (Additional written letters are being accepted and considered through Nov. 6.)

But, aside from the stated pros and cons, we must ask ourselves this: Having voted to sell Merrimack River water to North Reading (an out-of-basin transfer) despite opposition from the Merrimack River Watershed Council (a regional group existing for the environmental, social and economic well-being of our large region), can Andover be taken seriously if we oppose similar diversions already being proposed by fast-growing communities upstream in New Hampshire as well as by Boston (which has complete plans drawn up for a diversion upstream from Lowell)?

These diversions can lower the water quality and water flow available to Andover and other towns. We have a fine reliable water supply right now, but by not heeding and cooperating in regional concerns we may cause ourselves to have real water problems in the near future. We are setting a bad precedent and possibly straining relations with other river communities by ignoring the regional issues.

I am hoping that permission will not be granted for the North Reading diversion and that Andover will join in a comprehensive water management plan for this whole region.

He's a fan of 'Down the Years'

Editor, Townsman:

Have not seen "Down the Years" in the paper in the last two weeks. Hope you have not dropped this feature.

Please don't.

This is almost the only place in the paper that someone who has been gone from town as long as I have been will recognize any names. Granted, it is depressing to see a familiar name in the 100 years ago section, but, still enjoy reading the notes from the past.

Thank you for your consideration.

Wendell Wilkie, scheduled a week ago to motor through Andover Saturday morning, will zoom through on a train en route to Haverhill, but will motor through Shawsheen village about 10:30 on his way to Lowell from Lawrence.

Next Wednesday a new telephone service whereby those Andover subscribers who wish it may secure unlimited service to Andover and limited service to Lawrence, Lowell, North Reading and Wilmington will go into effect here it was announced officially Monday.

Under this arrangement those who wish may keep the present service, which is limited to Andover, whereas those who make an appreciable number of calls to Lawrence may do so at less than the present monthly bill but more than the present Andover or Lawrence base rate.

The service applies only to one party lines. The rate for a business telephone would be $6 per month, and this would pay for unlimited service to Andover and 40 message units to the four other communities. This is $1.50 per month more than the present Andover business base rate, so that any business man making over 30 call per month to Lawrence would benefit. Additional message units are 1 1/2 cents each.

Complicated by a new set of facts is the town-approved plan for sale of a parcel of Wood Hill land to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. for construction of a microwave tower and a building to house supporting equipment.

Causing some embarrassment is the recent disclosure that if the sale goes through the town will collect only about $5,000 in taxes instead of the $10,000 promised at Town Meeting.

The $10,000 tax estimate was based on a total evaluation figure for the tower, building and some $300,000 in equipment. AT&T now reports that state law would permit the town to collect on the tower and the building, but not on the equipment, which is taxed by the Commonwealth.

Library features marsh painter, other events, too

Joy Biddle of Kennebunkport, Maine, is Memorial Hall Library's artist of the month. Her most painted subject is the marsh. Using acrylics because of their fast drying time and versatility, each blade of marsh grass stands out in her marsh scenes. She captures the working world of the Maine fisherman, houses and wharves that crowd the water's edge. Her work reflects her response to New England. Ms. Biddle has studied at Boston University and the Museum of Fine Arts. She has two galleries: one in Sedgwick, Maine, and the other in Kennebunkport, Maine.

Concert Nov. 16

Memorial Hall will be the setting for a concert by Leonard and Jean Mironovich on Sunday, Nov. 18, at 2:30 p.m. Mr. Mironovich, a flutist, came to the United States from the Soviet Union, where his musical abilities were recognized by his appointment as first flutist in leading Soviet orchestras, including the Moscow State Symphony Orchestra. He is joined for this performance by his wife, Jean, who was an accompanist at the Moscow Conservatory and the Gnesinsky Institute and has accompanied many internationally known soloists. Since arriving in the United States in March, the Mironovich family has lived in Andover.

Friday film

The film this week in the Friday film series is "First Contact." Films are free and begin at 7:30 p.m.

In the 1930s Australia miners, lead by Michael Leahy, made the first contact between white people and the highlanders of New Guinea. Compelling footage of these meetings is combined with interviews of the survivors who recall the impressions and the shock of those events.

Children's Book Week

Haverhill author John Bellairs, who writes mysteries for children in grades 4-6, will help celebrate Children's Book Week (Nov. 12-17) at Memorial Hall Library. He will be the guest speaker in the Children's Room on Saturday, Nov. 17, at 11 a.m. Mystery lovers ages 9-13 are invited to meet the author and hear him talk about his writing life. Mr. Bellairs' 13th mystery, "The Secret of the Underground Room," is being published this fall and children will have a chance to ask him what's next in store. This program is supported by the Friends of the Library.

Children's book sale

Also in celebration of Children's Book Week, the Friends of Memorial Hall Library will hold its second annual Children's Book Sale on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 14 and 15, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. outside of the Children's Room. Donations of books, tapes, records and games in good condition are welcome and can be left in the Children's Room at any time.

Two free cooking classes set

Star Market and King Arthur Flour will present two free cooking classes at Old Town Hall Wednesday, Nov. 14. King Arthur Flour's spokeswoman and cooking instructor Barbara Lauterbach will conduct a demonstration of holiday hors d'oeuvres, from 10 a.m. to noon and 7 to 9 p.m. She will show how to make easy hors d'oeuvres.

Refreshments will be served and free recipes and coupons will be distributed. Tickets are available at the new Star Market Plus on Main Street in North Reading, or reservations can be made by calling (617) 661-2290.

Mrs. Lauterbach has more than 13 years experience as a culinary instructor. She has studied in Italy at the schools of Giuliano Bugialli in Florence and Marcella Hazan in Bologna, in Paris at La Varenne, at Cordons Bleu in England and others.

house, and a house will only hold so much value. The loss has to come out of the profit and sometimes the investment.

One subdivision in town that paid $140,000 per lot is now selling those lots at $125,000, according to Mr. Krajewski.

Commercial/industrial

Commercial and industrial property assessments have been "far and away the most difficult part of the revaluation," according to Mr. Krajewski.

The assessor doesn't see much change downtown, but rental rates are down and vacancies are up for the high tech and office space in the Route 495 and Interstate 93 corridor, according to Mr. Krajewski.

"I expect them to go down and I expect them to go down substantially. Whether they go down as much as land values I just don't know yet," he said.

Properties such as the Woodland Park office buildings off River Road, which have had 100 percent vacancy for 24 months, are difficult to compare to other properties that have maybe 40 or 100 percent occupancy. The rental rates in the same buildings vary from $3.50 to $15 or $18 per square foot, according to the assessor.

Mr. Krajewski knows of one instance in which a long-term lease was signed for $8.50 a square foot, but was then sublet at $3.50 a square foot when the company couldn't use the space.

"What do I do with something like that?" Mr. Krajewski said.

Impact

The impact of the expected drop in the commercial and industrial property values, if everything else remains the same, will be residential properties taking up a larger share of the tax burden, according to the assessor.

"There will be a moderately substantial shift in the tax load," he said.

The tax load, the amount of tax revenue needed to meet the town budget, is split so that 65 percent comes from residential property and 35 percent from commercial/industrial property.

The moderate shift now being predicted might change that to 70/30, according to the assessor.

Andover already uses a tax classification shift that sets the commercial/industrial tax rate at 115 percent of valuation to keep the ratio at 65/35. The option the town will face this spring will be whether to let the tax burden shift onto the residential property owners or to increase the classification shift to 120 or 125 percent, according to Mr. Krajewski.

Commodity foods given out Nov. 13

By Mary A. Byrne

The next commodity foods distribution will be held Tuesday, Nov. 13. Note the change from Monday to Tuesday. This is due to the Veterans Day holiday being celebrated on Monday, Nov. 12. If you have not applied for qualification for distribution, drop by the Senior Center any time to fill out the application.

Harold Reinstein, a speaker on Elder Advocacy for the Community Services unit of the Executive Office of Elder Affairs, will be at the Senior Center on Nov. 27 at 1 p.m. His slide-talk, "So You Think You're Powerless," is designed to convince the senior population that they have great potential political clout and how to use this power effectively. There will be a review of recent successes that seniors and their advocates have had, such as the ban on mandatory retirement, generic drug laws and the ban on balance billing. This should prove to be a very interesting program.

Tony Evangelista, a representative of CVS, will be at the Senior Center on Thursday, Nov. 8, at 1 p.m. to discuss "Helping Your Medicine Help You." The Sanborn School on Lovejoy Road will be host to their Harvest Festival on Thursday, Nov. 15. I attended this event last year and found it to be a delightful experience. The students and faculty invite you to join them on this date. Let us know if you plan to so we can let the school know how many people to expect.

Tickets are still available for the Elks dinner on Sunday, Nov. 18. The Nov. 11 date is completely booked.

The make-up flu clinic will be held at the Senior Center today, Thursday, from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

The Senior Center will be closed Monday, Nov. 12, Veterans Day.

The Thanksgiving party will be held Thursday, Nov. 15, 11:30 a.m. at the Senior Center. Chet Harnden will provide the music and a complete turkey dinner will be served. The ticket cost is $4.

If you need information on fuel assistance, call the Senior Center at 470-3830.

Posing with Sen. Patricia McGovern (D, Lawrence) are Eva B. Hester, a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee for the state, at left, for whom the award is named, and Paul Lanzikos, secretary of Elder Affairs for the state. Ms. Hester's political career spanned several decades and included work for President Harry Truman.

McGovern gets award

Sen. Patricia McGovern has been presented the Eva B. Hester Award from the Executive Office of Elder Affairs in recognition of her efforts in behalf of Massachusetts senior citizens. "I take great pleasure and pride in accepting this award,"

Sen. McGovern said, "There are so many complex issues which face our senior citizens today. I understand the complexity and the importance of those issues. I have always worked closely with the Councils on Aging in my district and with the Executive Office of Elder Affairs and I will continue to do that."

The award was presented by Elder Affairs Secretary Paul Lanzikos at the Tewksbury Senior Center recently.

The Eva B. Hester award is presented annually to one legislator from the House of Representatives and one from the state Senate. The House award this year went to Rep. Barbara Hilt (D-Amesbury).

Haven Assoc. meets soon

The Andover Haven Associates will meet Thursday, Nov. 15, at 1:30 p.m. at Andover Commons on Railroad Street. The Herb Society of Andover will present a program on herbal uses and lore and provide herbal refreshments.

The Senior Center is located at Whittier Court, in the building behind town offices.

HISTORY

Historical Society presents lifestyles of rich, famous

By Virginia Lopez Begg

Members of the morning coffee committee will substitute for television's Robin Leach as the Andover Historical Society presents "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous - the Historic Andover Version." The public is invited to sample refreshments and enjoy an inside look at the private lives of some of Andover's early notables on Tuesday, Nov. 13, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Ruth Sherwood will describe the worldly goods of old Andover names like Osgood, Abbot and Bailey. Three hundred years ago, careful inventories of personal property were made at the time of death. These inventories offer a revealing glimpse into the lives and customs of 17th- and 18th-century Andover. Donald Trump may not eat his heart out but wealth and power in those early days were signified by swine, firkins and how many feathers stuffed your bed.

John Stevens was one such man of wealth in early Andover. Even his clothes appeared in the inventory of his estate, which makes one wonder what he was buried in. Chamberpots, beehives and tablecloths are also counted assiduously. But the furniture that today commands such high prices is the chief ornament of these valuable lists. Mrs. Sherwood will begin the morning coffee program with color slides of many such cherished household items.

Bernice Haggerty will talk about some of the houses in which the town's first citizens lived. Anecdotes from their lives and long remembered incidents will be included. The tragic and haunting tale of the American patriot, James Otis, and his Andover connections, is one example.

Ruth Sharpe will bring the story to the 19th century. Her subject will be Harriet Beecher Stowe and her life in Andover. Ms. Stowe lived here for a dozen years following the publication of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Few newcomers have caused a greater stir in this old New England town. Jan Henderson will round out the look at Andover's rich and famous with some tales of the widespread Abbot clan.

The morning coffee committee also includes Barbara Loomer, Doris Newton and Mildred West. Morning coffees were established to provide more information on the Andover Historical Society's collections and to promote the presentation of historical artifacts, emphasizing their local significance.

Have you seen this glass plate negative? It is part of the Andover Historical Society's 1991 calendar, which is available in stores around town. This negative is by Charles Henry Newman and it documents more than a decade of construction at West Parish Cemetery. According to the calendar entry, the payroll record for the week ending May 21, 1910, lists the regular crew of Abbot, Lawrence, Summers, Saunders, Mooar, Lund, O'Leary and Petterson, as well as additional workers: Bartalito, Rosara, Sando, Elsay, Romoia, Guiseppo and Dimmock. The day rate varied from $1.75 to $2.50 an hour. The Historical Society is located at 97 Main St. The calendar costs $7.95 for non-members and $7.15 for members of the society.

Company tests for radon gas

Radalytic Labs Inc., a radon testing laboratory headquartered in Rock Hill, S.C., has named Tom Dipietro the laboratory's authorized dealer for radon screening tests in the Haverhill area. The company has an Andover number: 474-0444.

Mr. Dipietro of Climate Design Inc. recently completed Radalytic's required training and has been designated a radon testing specialist.

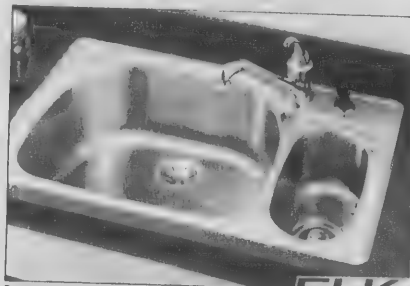

Radon is a radioactive gas that occurs in nature. It is a product of the natural breakdown of uranium. Scientists estimate that 5,000 to 20,000 lung cancer deaths a year in the United States may be attributed to long-term exposure to radon.

"Radon isn't new," said Mr.

Dipietro. "It has always been a part of our environment and it is relatively harmless in open air. However, once trapped inside a closed space such as a building, radon can accumulate. You cannot see it, smell it or taste it."

Coon upsets Tucker in Republican rout

Essex District, Mr. Coon beat Rep. Tucker 9,607-7,974. Rep. Tucker did win five precincts in Lawrence, but the 156 votes gained there were not enough to offset the 1,789 votes she lost by in Andover.

In the rest of the election, Andover showed itself to be solidly Republican country. With what appears to be a record 81 percent voter turnout for a gubernatorial election (in 1986, only 61 percent of the registered voters turned out), it voted for only three Democrats out of 14 ballot choices. It also voted against the Democratic winners in five statewide and county races.

The town's voters picked Senate candidate John Rappaport over winning incumbent Democrat John Kerry; supported secretary of state candidate Paul McCarthy over winning incumbent Democrat Michael Connolly; and failed to give a single precinct to winning Congressman Chester Atkins.

In the 5th District congressional race, although incumbent Chester Atkins (D-Connord) beat Republican challenger John MacGovern of Harvard by 109,891-101,038, he certainly didn't win in Andover. Mr. MacGovern won all eight Andover districts, and outpolled Rep. Atkins 7,498-6,513.

While Mr. Weld's 8,607-5,498 Andover victory over Mr. Silber was no surprise — Mr. Silber failed to win any Andover precincts — Mr. Rappaport's 7,217-6,968 Andover victory over Sen. Kerry certainly was.

Thumbs up, William Weld said Saturday during his campaign stop in Andover. He was right, and he took the state, as well as Andover.

Here's what happened at Coon headquarters

By Lisa A. Boudreau

The champagne corks popped early at Gary Coon's campaign headquarters Tuesday night.

Mr. Coon, 26, the successful Republican challenger to incumbent Democrat Susan Tucker's seat in the state House of Representatives, appeared to have the victory clinched by 11 that night. Three of Andover's eight precincts had already reported decisive victories for Mr. Coon by that time.

"I feel really good about my chances right now," Mr. Coon, 27 Korinthian Way, said as his victory in both his and Rep. Tucker's home precinct, eight, was posted at his headquarters on North Main Street.

Rep. Tucker, 46, 6 Farrwood Drive, has held the seat for the past eight years.

Mr. Coon said he began to relax once the 8th Precinct's results showed him more than 300 votes ahead in that precinct alone.

"The last time (when Mr. Coon won the Republican primary) we waited until two in the morning to pop the corks and no one was here to help us celebrate the victory," said Brad Wakeman, Mr. Coon's campaign treasurer.

"These people deserve a celebration for all the time and effort they've put in and the unwavering support they've shown Gary," he said.

Mr. Wakeman, of Haverhill, a friend of Mr. Coon's, said he was encouraged by the reactions he and other Coon supporters received at the polls earlier that day.

"So many people would walk by and give us the thumbs up or they'd wink. It was a great feeling," he said.

Chuck Lane, a neighbor who lives at 12 Korinthian Lane, helped conduct an exit survey as voters left the polling places. He and other supporters anticipated a Coon victory early that day.

"We had Gary ahead by at least 56 percent to Tucker's 46," Mr. Lane said. He grinned at a knowing smile as his predictions came true and Mr. Coon's lead grew by the hundreds with each precinct reporting victories.

About 80 campaign workers, family members and friends anxiously awaited voting results that were called into the campaign office by two of Mr. Coon's sisters, Jill Coon and Shair Coon, waiting at town offices.

The noise level in the small room at Coon headquarters dropped to a dull buzz of anticipation each time the phone rang. Some people crossed their fingers and others held their breath as Wendy Wakeman, Mr. Coon's campaign manager, answered each telephone call.

Some of the calls were false alarms — concerned Coon supporters calling for results. Each false alarm was followed by sighs of exasperation from the crowd. Other calls were the genuine article, one of Mr. Coon's sisters calling with numbers confirming the widening gap between the two candidates. These calls were answered with cheers, whoops and plenty of hugs and kisses by supporters.

"This is terrific," beamed Mrs. Wakeman, as she scanned the room and watched people's reactions.

"Everyone here has worked so hard — family, friends and Gary's neighbors. People have given an awful lot," she said.

She said campaign workers, dedication didn't dampen even in the pouring rain, whether they were asked to hold signs or drop leaflets door-to-door.

Andrew and Nicole Wilson, both formerly of Andover and long-time friends of Mr. Coon who now live in Beverly, were two of 40 or so people who distributed leaflets to nearly every Andover home with Mr. Coon's campaign pamphlets.

"We covered nearly 1,000 houses that day, even in the pouring rain," said Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. Coon's mother, Sharon Coon, hugged neighbor Eleanor Hendry, 7 Delphi Circle, as the final Andover numbers came in, confirming her son's victory.

"I'm beginning to relax a little now," said Mrs. Coon.

"All the hard work Gary and these people here did is paying off. She (Mrs. Hendry) was up and over to my house every morning, helping me to plan where we'd hold our signs," she said.

Twenty minutes after midnight Mrs. Tucker called the campaign headquarters to congratulate Mr. Coon.

"I just got off the phone with Sue Tucker," Mr. Coon announced to the anxious crowd.

"She called to congratulate me and tell me I have an interesting time ahead of me," he said.

Mr. Coon went on the thank Mrs. Tucker for her eight years of service to Andover and Lawrence and the work she had done on social issues.

precincts, but usually by small margins — he took Precinct 4, the West Andover area, by only three votes (925-922). But Mr. Rappaport won big in what proved to be Andover's most conservative precincts: Precinct 5, the Haggetts Pond area; Precinct 6, the Sanborn School area; and Precinct 8, the Route 125/Harold Parker State Forest area.

There was other evidence of precincts 5, 6 and 8's conservative power. While Question 3, the Citizens for Limited Taxation tax-roll-back petition, lost narrowly (49 percent for, 51 percent against) in Andover, it won in precincts 5 and 8. It lost by only one vote (910-911) in Precinct 6. Andover went along with the state's votes on all the other ballot questions.

Even in the Democratic victories, the Republican precincts showed their clout. In the 2nd Essex & Middlesex District state Senate race with Republican challenger Alba Castillo, incumbent Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) won overall, and in Andover by a relatively slim 7,389-6,562. But, once again, precincts 5 and 8 went for the Republican.

While incumbent Democratic Michael Connolly won statewide for secretary of state, Andover went for his Republican challenger 6,650-5,115. Independent High Tech candidate Barbara Ahearn took 1,855 votes.

Andover went with the rest of the state in supporting Republican Joseph Malone for state treasurer, over Democrat William Galvin, 9,842-3,470 (with Independent High Tech candidate C. David Nash getting 633 Andover votes), but it bucked the state's vote for Democratic incumbent Joseph DeNucci for state auditor, voting instead for Republican challenger Douglas Murray, 6,280-6,060.

In another Republican victory, Andover joined the rest of the 5th District in voting for Andover's John Harris, an engineering consultant who lives at 31 Lincoln Circle, for governor's councillor. He defeated incumbent Democrat John Markey of North Andover, 8,556-4,737.

The town also went along with two county-wide Republican victories: Everett Hudson for register of probate and Kevin Leach for county commissioner. Mr. Hudson, an Ipswich resident who was the former county commission chairman, defeated Democratic challenger Peter Blanchette of Lawrence, 6,794-5,669. It voted 8,213-3,905 for Republican Kevin Leach of Salem over incumbent Democrat Charles Arena of Lynn.

The town even bucked the county-wide reelection of incumbent Democrat Katherine O'Leary of Salem for county treasurer. Although she won the overall election by 114,854-108,385 (based on 94 percent of the precincts reporting), Andover went overwhelmingly for her Republican opponent, George Mazareas, of Lynn. The town's vote was 7,366 for Mr. Mazareas and 4,952 for Ms. O'Leary.

There were a couple of Democratic victories in Andover. In the state attorney general's race, the town did support Scott Harshbarger over his Republican challenger, William Sawyer of Acton, 8,225-5,772.

The town also showed it was capable of a vote for an incumbent Democrat, however. Longtime Essex County District Attorney Kevin Burke, running unopposed, got 8,483 votes in Andover.

Siren and her archvillain comrade, Jenny Powers and Andrew Kletjian, both of Andover, are sure to get boos and hisses in the Merrimack Junior Theatre's production of "No, No, a Million Times No!" this weekend.

Curtains open on musical this weekend

A hero, a villain and a farmer's beautiful daughter: "No, No, a Million Times No!" has every schlock element a corny melodrama needs. Under the direction of Andover music teacher Josie Walker, a cast of 56 second- through sixth-grade members of the Merrimack Junior Theatre Company brings this musical comedy alive on the stage of Doherty Middle School Memorial Auditorium Nov. 9, 10 and 11.

The play, written in the late 1950s by Eskel Crawford and Bud Tomkins, is set in a little country town in the early 1900s. The musical score features such familiar-sounding gems as "She Had No Mother to Guide Her," "The Villain Still Pursued Her" and "The Moth and the Flame."

Performances begin at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday. Tickets, priced at $6 for adults and $4 for students and senior citizens, may be purchased from cast members or at the door the day of each performance.

Andover artist has work at MFA

The work of an Andover native is included in the "Unique Print/'70s into '90s" exhibition at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston through Dec. 16 in the Lois and Michael Torf Gallery.

One of Calvin Brown's three-part silkscreen prints titled "Paradigm & Decay (in Memory of Frank Smith)" will be on view.

It was printed in Boston by Camellia Genovese Sullivan of Andover and then left to rust in her Andover yard.

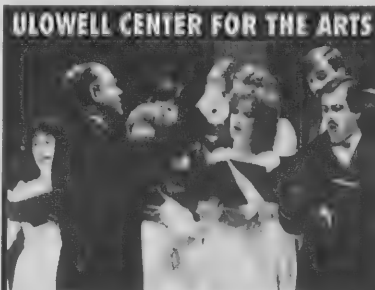

Each print is made up of three 24-inch-square metal plates stacked vertically (1-inch between) and screwed into the wall. The dichotomy of "the crisp archetypal man-made geometric forms of the printed areas are contrasted with the irregular organic patterns of corrosion and decay in the unprinted areas of metal that have been rusted by exposure out of doors after printed," said Clifford Ackley, curator of the MFA show.

Mr. Brown graduated from Andover High in 1970. He received a bachelor of fine arts degree from Cooper Union in New York in 1974 and a master of fine arts degree from Yale University in 1978. He went to New York City in 1979 where he has since lived.

His mother is Nancy Brown of Salem Street.

Mr. Brown exhibited his work in 1988 and 1990 in Boston at the Genovese Gallery, owned and operated by Ms. Sullivan.

His paintings are included in the collections of the Rose Art Museum and Addison Gallery of American Art as well as private collections.

AHS field hockey team finishes impressive season

By Rick Harrison

Two first-half goals by junior attack Grace Perry, and a pair of second-half scores by senior midfielder and Co-Capt. Jenn Recesso, carried the Andover High girls' varsity field hockey team to an impressive season-ending 4-1 victory over non-league rival North Andover.

That triumph enabled the 1990 AHS stickwomen to complete one of the finest seasons in the history of the sport at the school, the 9-6-3 overall record leaving the Lady Warriors an agonizing one point shy of Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament qualification.

Andover needed 22 of a possible 36 points to qualify under the 60 per cent rule, but finished with 21.

Team members no doubt will look back on three ties, and several other one-goal losses, with the knowledge that just one more goal along the way would have put them in the tourney.

The 4-1 decision over North Andover enabled Andover to capture the season series against the Scarlet Knights, the first game ending in a 1-1 tie.

Perry's first goal, and ninth of the season, was assisted by junior attacker Layne Whitley. The second of the game, and 10th overall for Perry, was set up by Carla Wade.

Recesso, the team-high scorer with 11 goals and three assists, took over in the second half with a brace of insurance goals assisted by junior midfielder Holly Clark and senior attacker Kathy Kim.

Julie DiLiegro, who backstopped the junior varsity team to a perfect 18-0-0 record this fall, returned to the varsity net for the third time in place of injured senior Melissa McCarty who was nursing a sprained ankle.

DiLiegro, who will probably inherit the position next fall, came through with a strong effort.

Excellent all-around games were contributed by Perry, Recesso, Kim and Clark.

Andover JVs

Those amazing junior varsity field hockey upstarts blanked North Andover, 2-0, to put the finishing touches on a perfect 18-0-0 season.

They were the second AHS girls' junior varsity squad to complete an un-un campaign, joining the JV girls' soccer crew (16-0-0).

Making the field hockey future look very bright were Ari Boutin and Sara Witham who scored the goals for Coach George Walsh's mini-machine, while Katie Walsh and Nicole Farley were the set-up artists.

Starr Foresta registered the team's 16th shutout in goal, while all-around standouts were Jamie Lynch and Sarah Wallace.

Gridders come from behind at half-time to beat Methuen, prepare to take on North Andover

By Rick Harrison

Reality set in early for the Andover High varsity football team last Friday night.

The tendency after playing Lawrence this year is to believe everything comes easily.

But Methuen, while it has won just one game in seven (1-5-1), is definitely not Lawrence.

The Rangers are capable of upsetting any team in the Merrimack Valley Conference, so it wasn't unusual they took an 8-7 lead into the locker room at halftime against Andover.

"I've played Methuen too many years to be surprised by anything that happens between us," said Golden Warriors' Head Coach Dick Collins. "It's a big rivalry game and they always get up for us. I thought both teams played exceptionally well."

"They haven't won much, but they've been extremely competitive

They only lost to Chelmsford by one touchdown (also 15-8) and Tewksbury by one touchdown (14-6). Defensively Methuen has been very strong.

"I was definitely worried at the half, but it certainly wasn't a panic situation. I felt we were the stronger team and would get to them eventually," offered Collins.

"We knew we had to make some defensive adjustments at the half because Methuen was splitting our line. I was confident (defensive coordinator) Joe Iarrobino could do it, and that confidence wasn't misplaced because he did a great job adjusting and shutting them down. Actually they only mounted one big drive against us."

The victory, accomplished when Dave Blank crashed over from the one in the third quarter, was the fifth straight for the Golden Warriors.

AHS improved to 6-2-0 overall, and is now locked in a two-way tie for second place with Thanksgiving Day opponent Central Catholic.

Both Andover and Central were within two minutes of being tied for first place, but Tewksbury (7-1-0) rallied from a 6-0 fourth-quarter deficit to overtake Billerica 14-6 on a pair of touchdowns in the final two minutes.

The Warriors are idle this weekend, then battle North Andover next Saturday morning (Nov. 17) and Central on Turkey Day (both 10 a.m. kickoffs).

Early score

As it has in most of its games this year, Andover scored the first touchdown.

Defensive back Jeff Hurley set up the score with the first of his two interceptions, picking off a Shane Jozokos pass near midfield.

The Warriors methodically marched the ball 56 yards to paydirt, quarter back Matt Perry going to final 16 on a bootleg left.

Brett Hammond toed his 16th conversion and 64th point after Perry's second TD of the season, giving AHS a 7-0 first-quarter advantage.

Methuen took Hammond's subsequent kickoff and put together the one sustained drive Collins spoke of, marching 73 yards in 12 plays with sophomore halfback Joe Cerami doing the bulk of the legwork (39 yards).

The Rangers finally scored on fourth-and-goal from the one, Jozokos plunging over, and Methuen then took the lead when Jozokos rushed the conversion.

Andover had a chance to regain the lead just before the half ended, but Hammond's 35-yard field goal attempt hit the upright.

Andover used another turnover to set up the winning touchdown in the third period, Stefan Fodor pouncing on a Methuen fumble at the Rangers' 43.

The key play in the drive was an 18-yard pass from Perry to junior Jim Landry, and then Blank knifed across for his ninth touchdown and 54th point.

Perry flipped a two-point conversion pass to Landry for the 15-8 final.

Andover's defensive adjustments kept Methuen at bay during the scoreless fourth period.

Collins cited the defensive play of Hurley, Fodor and end Chris Davis.

North Andover

Andover holds a 2-1-0 edge over the Scarlet Knights since the series was resumed, including last year's incredible 41-0 blowout in a game that was supposed to be a tossup.

Three years ago, however, when Andover was a slight favorite and a Super Bowl contender NA knocked off the Warriors.

Members of the Andover coaching staff have already scouted North Andover four times, and Collins will follow tradition by going to see the Scarlet Knights in person this weekend.

"They have a tremendous amount of speed," noted Collins. "Two of their running backs are game-breakers."

"It's always difficult to compare ourselves to North Andover, though, because the Cape Ann League usually isn't as strong as the MVC. Of course, what happened three years ago made me discount the theory about strength of opposition.

"It's a local rivalry, much the same as Methuen (Andover and NA were former Thanksgiving foes), and I know North Andover will be prepared."

Collins and staff have spent this week preparing for both North Andover and Central Catholic, but will now begin to concentrate primarily on the Scarlet Knights.

The only major change in the weekly routine will be giving the players this weekend off.

"The extra time should help us this year," said Collins. "We have some kids who are hurting and need a few more days to heal. Mark Dodge took eight stitches in a finger after a fluke injury against Methuen. We think he caught his hand in someone's face mask. Danny Waitkevitch is banged up and Joe Marinaro is sore.

"This gives us a chance to get healthy, and since we're preparing for two teams I like to use the extra week to review all the basic fundamentals," concluded Collins.

Golfers advance to state finals

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High golf team will be busy next June, thanks to a strong performance in the MIAA State Team Golf Championship North East Area Qualifying Round at Putterham Meadows in Brookline.

The Golden Warriors were the second low qualifier to defending State Division 1 champion Haverhill, joining the Hillies, third Merrimack Valley Conference member Methuen and Burlington as the four teams from this area advancing to the State Team Finals next spring.

The State finals are slated for early June, with the tentative site Pocasset Country Club on Cape Cod.

The team qualifying completed a superb fall campaign for Coach Bob Lawson's Golden Warrior linksmen, who finished second to Haverhill in the Large School Division of the MVC after posting a 10-4-1 overall record (7-1-1 last nine matches).

Earlier last week, as reported here, senior No. 1 player Sean Darwin and junior No. 2 Jim Ofria also qualified for the MIAA State Individual Champi-

Girls' soccer team moves into semifinal round

By Rick Harrison

For the fifth straight year the Andover High girls' varsity soccer team has advanced to the Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Tournament semifinal round.

The reigning five-time Merrimack Valley Conference champs did it by extending their undefeated streak through 15 games (13-0-2) with tournament-opening victories over Woburn (1-0) and Peabody (7-3).

The Lady Warriors, who shared the 1987 state Division 1 championship with Agawam High and reached the North title game in '88, were trying to become one of the state's final eight yesterday in a rematch with neighboring archrival North Andover.

The Scarlet Knights entered undefeated (19-0-0), top-seeded and had yielded only three goals all season.

Ironically, the 15-game unbeaten streak started following a 1-0 loss to North Andover back on Sept. 20. So this semifinal, hopefully, was payback time for AHS.

The Division 1 North title game is tentatively scheduled for Saturday at a time and site to be determined.

Junior forward Nicole Angelos continues to lead the team in scoring with 13 goals, nine assists, 22 points. Other top guns are Tri-Capt. Lisa Allen (9-11-20), Tri-Capt. Anne Murnane (9-9-18) and sophomore forward Hilary Recesso (12-5-17).

Andover has now outscored its 20 opponents by a wide 64-16 margin.

The two victories were Coach Dick Loschi's 94th and 95th at Andover as he closes in on the 100-win plateau.

Andover, 1-0

The fourth-seeded Lady Warriors had their hands full with upset-minded Middlesex League member Woburn, but the most important goal of senior forward Bridget Murphy's high school career stood up for the win at Lovely Field.

Murphy's third goal of the year came midway through the first half, assisted by senior forward Amy Brocklesby.

Brocklesby chipped the ball to the 18-yard line, where Murphy trapped it with her chest, turned and fired a shot to the top right-hand corner over Tanner goalie Karen Irving's head.

Senior goalie Maura Everett kept visiting Woburn off the board with nine saves, and she had plenty of defensive support from senior defender Leanna Mills, senior defender Darlene Prochniak, junior midfielder Julie Connor, junior defender Amy Heseltine and Anne Murnane who played halfback.

"Those girls never came off the field," said Coach Loschi, "and two of them, Murnane and Prochniak, played out of position because of injuries to Lindsay Sweeney (ankle) and Jen Butt (ankle)."

"Wendy Germaine (senior defender) also aggravated a hip muscle pull, so there was no question we were short-handed.

"It was a tough first-round victory, but a very good one because of the circumstances," said Loschi.

The shutout was the team's ninth of the season.

"Woburn's forwards had exceptional speed and ballhandling ability," noted Loschi. "But their midfield play was weak, and we took advantage of that."

"It's Woburn's first year in the tournament, and some people who have seen us a lot this season said this was the best game we've played."

The Tanners finished with a 10-7 shooting advantage, Woburn goal-tender Irving making six saves.

Andover, 7-3

Cross country teams head for championships

By Rick Harrison

Sophomores Heather Holmander and Matt Liberty were individual race winners as the young and promising Andover High boys' and girls' varsity cross country teams completed their Merrimack Valley Conference dual meet seasons on a high note, both gliding to lopsided victories over visiting Wilmington.

The boys whipped Wilmington 17-44 to finish third in the MVC Small School Division with a 4-6-0 record. Overall they were 47-0.

The girls were 21-40 victors over the Wildcats to complete their league campaign at 4-4-0, tied for fourth with Billerica in the one-division league. Lowell and Tewksbury shared the title with 7-1-0 records, and Chelmsford finished third. Overall the Lady Warriors were 4-5-0.

Andover's underclassmen also competed in the annual State Coaches Meet at Franklin Park in Dorchester last weekend. Seniors were busy taking SAT exams and did not run.

Andover has to be considered a future league power, the program as healthy as it's been in a long time with numerous talented freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Virtually every top runner from both varsity squads will return next fall, when the Warriors should be an MVC title challenger in both divisions.

Still left on the 1990 agenda are the Eastern Mass. State Class Championships this Saturday morning at Franklin Park, and the All-State Meet on Saturday, Nov. 17 for those who qualify this weekend.

Andover girls

The Lady Warriors finished 1-2, and placed seven runners among the top10 against Wilmington (2-6-0), en route to squaring their league ledger.

Sophomore Heather Holmander won her third race this fall, covering Andover's 2.6 mile course in a swift 17:17.

Sophomore Ellen Sullivan was just eight seconds behind, in 17:25, and junior Co-Capt. Heather McNemar's fifth-place time of 17:45 left her only a couple strides behind the Wilmington tandem of Leah Mazzoni (17:39) and Christine Elia (17:41).

AHS boys' soccer team eliminated from playoffs

By Rick Harrison

For 50 minutes the Andover High boys' varsity soccer team held off Middlesex League powerhouse Lexington in their Eastern Mass. Division 1 North quarterfinal round tournament contest.

But, just when the Golden Warriors began thinking upset, the undefeated Minutemen unleashed an offensive barrage that carried them to a deceptive 6-1 victory and brought Andover's successful season to a slightly premature close.

The loss, which followed on the heels of an impressive 4-0 romp over Somerville in the tourney's opening round, left Coach Dave Amundsen's club with an 11-5-2 overall record.

Andover, which finished the season playing its best soccer, took second place (by one point) in the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School Division and bounced back from last year's lackluster 7-6-4 campaign.

"I consider the season quite successful," said Amundsen, whose teams have qualified for the tournament 12 of 15 years and won or shared eight league titles.

"We came back from not qualifying or reaching our potential last year, to within one point of winning the league over a talented and experienced Chelmsford team.

"We achieved beyond what I expected and played close to our capabilities," continued the coach. "We were a little better offensively than I anticipated, the field defense was outstanding, and the kids came to pre-season camp ready and determined to play good soccer."

"I believe we're back on track in regards to maintaining Andover's soccer tradition, and I hope to carry over this year's motivation to next season," said Amundsen.

Mike Henry ended up as the team's top scorer, and the MVC point champ as well, with 13 goals, 11 assists, 24 points. Also in double figures for the complete 18-game campaign were Chris Zappala (9-3-12) and Steve Sintros (6-6-12).

Andover, 4-0

The Warriors, seeded seventh, hosted Somerville at Lovely Field and unceremoniously bounced the 10th-seeded Hilltoppers from the tourney with a 4-0 blitz.

"We capitalized on our opportunities and shut them down," noted Amundsen. "Somerville was quick and aggressive, but they caught us just as we were peaking."

Senior center-halfback and Co-Capt. Brad Cronin needed just two minutes to score the only goal necessary, blasting a penalty shot past Somerville netminder Salvatore Melendez after the Warriors forced a hand-ball in the penalty area to set up the shot.

Junior forward Chris Zappala followed Cronin's fourth goal of the season with his first of two in the game at 13:04, assist to Cronin, and AHS took the 2-0 lead into halftime.

Andover, not noted for its head-shot goals this season, got one from Zappala at 14:00 of the second half.

Senior forward Steve Sintros started the play with a cross to Mike Henry, who fed Zappala for a header to complete the textbook goal.

Sintros, who had a goal called back by an offside violation, capped the offense 10 minutes later after converting a set-up feed from Henry.

Senior goaltender Matt Doyle, returning to the lineup with medical clearance after suffering a concussion several days earlier, made four saves en route to the shutout.

He preserved the whitewash with a great save on a direct kick near the end of the first half, when it was still 2-0. The ball got through the AHS wall, but was deflected by Doyle and pushed over the crossbar at the last instant.

For Somerville, which finished third in the Greater-Boston League and bowed out with a 9-5-5 overall record, goalie Melendez made nine saves.

Andover finished with a 13-7 shooting advantage.

Defensive standouts for the Warriors were junior defender Brian Jones, sophomore defender Keith Selvitelli who suffered a shoulder injury, and senior defender Ryan Rodriguez who marked Hilltoppers' big scorer Christian Gutierrez and kept him off the board.

Lexington, 6-1

non-league regular-season confrontation.

A huge crowd of fans and college scouts took advantage of the unseasonably warm weather last weekend to attend this contest under the lights at Lovely Field.

Anne Murnane wasted little time establishing another school record in tournament play, blasting home the game's first goal just 15 seconds after the opening faceoff.

Andover boosted the lead to 2-0, but then relaxed as Greater-Boston League power Peabody roared back to tie it with two quick goals.

"It was a wide-open, physical game with lots of body contact," said Loschi. "Our girls did well to resist retaliating at times.

"We came out with all the intensity in the world, but once we took the 2-0 lead our girls thought it was going to be easy. They stepped back and began watching the game instead of playing it.

"I put the starters back in and we began flying again. And the 'traditional' halftime speech reminded them to keep the intensity level up," added Loschi.

Hilary Recesso snapped the 2-2 tie 15 seconds after Peabody had pulled even, at the 32:07 mark, and AHS took that 3-2 edge into the locker room at intermission.

The Lady Warriors pocketed the first three goals of the second half, boosting the lead to an insurmountable 6-2, and the rivals then traded late goals.

Recesso led the attack with two goals, her 11th and 12th, and a pair of assists. Murnane added her eighth and ninth goals, plus one assist, while Nicole Angelos (13th) and Lisa Allen (ninth) notched a goal and one assist each.

Senior defender Lisa Hayes completed the offense with her first goal of the season, and senior midfielder Alison Ingves notched one assist.

Senior Nancy Hoffman was in net and she made four saves.

"We dominated the midfield area," said Loschi, "and the defense was immense led by Amy Heseltine, Leanna Mills and Lindsay Sweeney."

Sweeney was still somewhat hobbled by the ankle injury suffered in the MVC All-Star Game.

"It was an all-around effort," noted the coach. "Every player that stepped on the field did something right, and they weren't afraid to dive on the ground and get dirty when necessary."

Volleyball team shares second place at end of regular season

By Rick Harrison

First-place in the Large School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference eluded the Andover High varsity volleyball team on the final night of regular season play.

Tied with defending league and State Division 1 champ Chelmsford entering action at the fourth annual "Chelmsford Volleyball Night," the Lady Warriors had to wrap up the campaign against undefeated MVC

Small School powerhouse Dracut.

The Middies swept Andover, 15-4, 16-14 in the evening's opening match, clearing the way for Chelmsford to clinch the crown. The Lions responded in the nightcap with a tough 2-1 triumph over Billerica.

Those results left Coach Art Iworsley's club at 14-6 overall, including 12-6 in the conference. Chelmsford closed at 15-5 and 13-5, respectively, forcing Andover to share second place with Haverhill.

The Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Tournament committee gave the Lady Warriors another shot at Chelmsford, however, matching the two powers in the opening quarterfinal round of the tourney last Tuesday night.

Andover entered its third straight tourney with an overall record of 47-17 for the past three years.

Dracut, 2-0

AHS had won two straight matches, and seven of eight since a 2-0 loss to Dracut the first time around.

After Dracut, 18-0, rolled past Andover 15-4 in the opening game the Lady Warriors came alive.

They broke out to an early lead in the second game, and came within one point of winning it at 14-10. But Dracut saved four match points and closed out the victory with a game-winning 6-0 run.

Dracut, a 2-1 victor over the locals in early October, swept the season series.

Playing well for AHS were senior back-row defender Maureen Maginnis, junior setter Cara Conserva, junior setter Meghan

Andover JVs

Coach Gregory Yatskar's Andover junior varsity completed a superb 18-2 season with a 2-0 sweep (15-13, 15-9) of Dracut.

Pacing the young Warriors in the finale were Stephanie Crane, Lee Hendricks, Julie Doherty, Alexis Campbell and freshman Kerrie Green.

All-Stars

Ayanna Littrean is the lone Andover player selected to the 12-member first-team All-Conference squad voted on by the MVC coaches.

Nicole Thompson and Lea Conserva are two of the six All-Conference Honorable Mention players, while Kerry Hagerty joins Littrean, Thompson and Conserva as Large School Division All-Stars.

Judi Nutter of Dracut is the MVC Player-of-the-Year, Charlie Pelley of Dracut the Coach-of-the-Year, and the three All-Scholastic nominees are Nutter, Kathleen Gillis of Chelmsford and Lori Loureiro of Lowell High.

(Middlesex)," said Amundsen.

"They turned out to be big, strong, aggressive and physical," added the coach.

Andover was not intimidated, however, and broke a scoreless tie five minutes into the second half when Mike Henry took a pass from Brian Jones and beat Minutemen goalkeeper Ethan Zohn.

"It was a very quick kick that caught everyone, except Mike, by surprise," said Amundsen.

Territorial play to that point had been pretty even, but Lexington appeared to see blood after falling behind.

Five minutes after Henry's goal the Minutemen tied it, Adam Schay's soft shot finding the upper left corner.

"Their first goal turned the game in their favor," offered Amundsen. "They had a throw-in to start the play, and the kid backheaded the ball into our net just under the crossbar. The shot seemed to sail or float past our goalie."

"We couldn't get the ball out of our end for the next few minutes. Our defense collapsed, Lexington pinned us and pressured hard, and we became disorganized and disheartened."

The result was three more goals spaced approximately four minutes apart, as Lexington turned Andover's 1-0 advantage into a 4-1 deficit in the space of 15 minutes.

To make matters worse, starting goalkeeper Matt Doyle was hurt on the play that produced the second and go-ahead goal.

"Matt isn't quite sure what happened, but he thinks someone accidentally stepped on his neck," said Amundsen.

"But no one realized he was hurt. I didn't know it and neither did the officials. "Eventually he raised his hand to signal, but by the time I had someone warmed up they had already scored twice more."

Senior Kevin Lewis replaced Doyle for a 10-minute stretch, and then Matt Reghitto played the final 10 minutes. Both yielded one goal and made one save, while Doyle stopped seven shots during his stint.

Amundsen cited the fine play of senior Co-Capt. Rob Dawley and Brad Cronin, along with defenders Ryan Rodriguez, junior Mihn Nguyen, Brian Jones and Keith Selviteili.

Selviteili played despite a slightly separated shoulder suffered against Somerville.

Schay finished with two goals for Lexington, while other marksmen were George Landman, Kurt Langer, Jason Kohrt and Steve Dansted.

Second-seeded Lexington improved to 15-0-4 and advanced to last Tuesday's semifinal round.

Among those playing their final game for AHS were seniors Cronin, Dawley, Rodriguez, Henry, Sintros, Doyle, Lewis and Peter Arthur.

Hubbell swims her way to lone AHS individual victory

By Rick Harrison

Senior sprinter Kristen Hubbell and junior diver Kasie Kearins did what good athletes do against strong competition, elevating their performances to new levels to spark the Andover High girls' swim team at last weekend's annual two-day Merrimack Valley Conference Championship Meet.

Every AHS competitor that scored in the meet rose to the occasion as the Lady Warriors earned fourth in the 10-team competition that included 300 participants and scored 12 places.

Hubbell, the State and Sectional Meet qualifier in six different events, registered Andover's lone individual victory (100 backstroke) and its only second place finish (100 freestyle).

Kearins placed a solid third in the one-meter diving, an event that saw AHS nab four of the top 11 places, while the two best relay performances were a third place by the medley relay foursome and a fourth from the 400 freestyle crew.

Chelmsford successfully defended its MVC team title with 395 points, while Lowell was runner-up at 288. Following in order were Nashua (250), Andover (146), Notre Dame Academy (129), Haverhill (124), Westford Academy (63), Billerica (19), Methuen (1) and Lawrence (no score).

Hubbell shines

"Kristen was seeded second in the 100 backstroke, spent most of the race in third place, and then blew by the other two girls in the final 10 yards to win it," said Andover Coach Patty Fitzgerald. "It was a great individual effort."

The Andover star was clocked in 1:05.21, nearly one full second faster than her previous best time. The two stunned swimmers Kristen passed down the stretch were second place Kerrie Hodge of Lowell and third place Amy Allen of Nashua.

Hubbell's 56.88 clocking in the 100-yard freestyle was also a personal best, although almost one second behind potential state champ Jen Lamontagne of Chelmsford who touched in 55.94.

"This time I think Kristen really did have a rocket on her back," said Fitzgerald. "That's a fabulous time."

Her best previous was 57.45 in the final dual meet against Methuen.

Kasie Kearins, primed for another outstanding gymnastics' season, trailed only national caliber divers Sheila Priestly of Westford and Lisa Galpin of Chelmsford in competition at the Lowell High pool.

Junior Jill Ippolito was seventh in diving, junior Sarah Faraci 10th and sophomore Amanda Schaaake 11th.

Versatile athlete Ippolito also placed seventh in the 50 free in 26.88, a remarkable feat considering her relative inexperience as an event swimmer. Kelly Gouldson of Chelmsford won the sprint in 25.53.

Junior Michelle McCarthy captured sixth place in the 100 breaststroke (1:16.48) and seventh in the arduous 500-yard freestyle.

Rounding out the individual scorers were sophomore Chrissy DerAnanian, eighth in the 100 free with a personal-best 1:01.10, and junior Katie Lamanna 12th in the 500 free.

Rapid relayers

Five Andover relay teams earned points.

The third place 200 medley relay squad of Hubbell, McCarthy, DerAnanian and Ippolito established a new team-low time of 2:03.57. But they were up against a Chelmsford quartet that set a meet record with a blistering 1:57.47.

The Lady Warriors captured 10th in the same event with Karen Murphy, freshman Ronit Shteiya, sophomore Molly Grassis and freshman Mandy Wilson.

The 400 freestyle team of Hubbell, McCarthy, senior Tri-Capt. Eliza Tilghman and DerAnanian placed fourth in 4:05.00, a distant 12 seconds off the winning Chelmsford team's 3:53 pace.

Finishing 12th in the same race was the foursome of Lamanna, senior Tri-Capt. Allyson Bates, freshman Mindy Fox and Katie Lennon in 4:32.79.

Completing the Andover scorers was the eighth-place 200 free relay squad of Ippolito, Tilghman, Mandy Wilson and Lennon.

States and sectionals

The Lady Warriors send eight swimmers to the Sectional Championships tomorrow (qualifying) and Saturday (diving and finals) at Regis College in Weston.

Competing will be Kristen Hubbell, Michelle McCarthy (100 breast and 500 free), Chrissy DerAnanian (100 free and 200 free) and divers Kasie Kearins, Jill Ippolito (50 free as well), Amanda Schaaake, Sarah Faraci and Anne Milmo.

Hubbell, Kearins, McCarthy and Ippolito will also compete in the State Meet Nov. 16-17.

Freshman football wins another one

By Rick Harrison

Matt Wolcott ran for a season-high 245 yards and two touchdowns, Paul Allard scored one touchdown, passed for another and had 115 yards rushing, and the potent offense piled up 528 total yards as the Andover freshman football juggernaut powered to a hard-fought 28-12 victory over Methuen at Nicholson Stadium.

The victory was the seventh straight for Andover this fall, its 20th in a row overall, and clinched at least a tie for another Merrimack Valley Conference championship.

Coach Ken Pellerin's crew (7-0-0), which has outscored seven opponents 218-48, is the only undefeated team left in the MVC. The Haverhill and Central Catholic frosh both have one loss, while Methuen dropped out of contention at 5-2-0 after this defeat.

Andover is idle this weekend as it prepares for the season finale against Central Catholic next Friday afternoon (Nov. 16).

That contest, originally listed for Veterans Stadium in Lawrence, has tentatively been switched to Lovely Field at 3:30 p.m. Lights may be needed by the fourth quarter of the contest, and Veterans Stadium is not equipped for that eventuality.

Matt Wolcott exploded back on the freshman scene with a vengeance, scoring two second-quarter touchdowns as Andover broke a scoreless tie and took a 14-0 lead to the locker room at halftime.

His 245 yards, in just 11 carries (22.3 average), hiked his season total to 804 yards in 41 rushes. Wolcott needs 196 yards against Central to reach the coveted 1,000 yard plateau attained by few.

Allard contributed 115 yards in nine lugs (12.8 average), boosting his season total to 547 yards in 43 carries. He also caught a screen pass for 49 yards, and had another 43-yard screen pass for an apparent touchdown wiped out by a clipping penalty.

Quarterback Jeff Brammer, who was intercepted for only the second time this fall, went 4-for-10 passing to adjust his figures to 30-for-51 (60 per cent), five touchdowns and 533 yards.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Effective January 1, 1991, the Lahey Clinic-Blue Cross and Blue Shield Health Maintenance Plan ("Lahey Senior Plan") will not renew its Medicare contract with the Health Care Financing Administration. Members affected by this decision were notified on October 15, 1990, of their options to enroll in another Medicare HMO in the area or return to the regular fee-for-service Medicare. The following HMOs are located in the Lahey Senior Plan service area and offer a Medicare Managed Care contract:

Under a new federal regulation, these plans are required to accept those Medicare beneficiaries who are affected by the non-renewal of the Lahey Senior Plan and who live in their service areas. Members choosing to remain in the plan until December 31 will be automatically transferred back to the regular Medicare effective January 1, 1991. Members were advised that until their termination from the Lahey Senior Plan is effective, they must continue to use their Plan providers. Blue Cross and Blue Shield Medex, a supplemental insurer, has agreed to enroll any interested Lahey Senior Plan members who choose to return to regular fee-for-service Medicare on January 1, 1991. There is no waiting period and no screening for prior medical conditions. Freshman football wins another game

Wolcott, who also rushed a conversion, leads the team in scoring with 62 points. Toby Guzowski has 44 points and Allard 43.

Wolcott erupts

Andover, which had scored 90 points in six previous first quarters, was held off the board until early in the second period by Methuen.

A fumble recovery by Phil Smith, the first of five turned in by the opportunistic Andover defense, set up the initial touchdown.

It gave the locals possession near midfield, and they appeared to score when Brammer hit Allard with a screen pass that went the 43-yard distance.

A clipping call behind the play negated the score, but merely delayed the inevitable as Wolcott burst through the line on a trap play and raced 38 yards moments later.

Toby Guzowski rushed the extras and Andover had a lead it would never relinquish, 8-0.

Late in the second period Mark Cutler fell on a fumble near midfield. Wolcott raced 35 yards, Paul Allard ripped off 10 more, and Wolcott's ninth TD of the season came on an eight-yard thrust.

The pass for two failed, but Andover appeared in command with a 14-0 lead.

The winners, who have notched 77 second-quarter points, barely missed another touchdown on the final play of the half. Allard took another screen pass from Jeff Brammer and rammed 49 yards to the Methuen two before he was knocked out of bounds as time ran out.

Methuen moved back in contention midway through the third period when rugged running back Charlie Towne, whose father was a former Andover football star, scored on a short run to make it 14-6.

The turning point, according to Pellerin, came on the next series as Andover returned momentum to its side with a long touchdown march.

Allard clicked off 21- and 15-yard runs. Wolcott had an eight-yard gain, and Brammer ran for four yards to set up a fourth-and-goal situation at the Rangers' four.

In a play that was just inserted during practice last week, Allard rolled out and flipped a four-yard option pass to Gene Doran for the touchdown.

It was Doran's third TD of the season, and when Wolcott rushed the conversion the Andover lead was back to 22-6.

Methuen struck again in the final period, Gary Sangleduce on a short run, but a subsequent onside kick by the Rangers was recovered by Andover.

The young Warriors wrapped up the victory when Allard knifed off tackle and sprinted 43 yards for his sixth touchdown of the year.

The pass for the extras fell incomplete.

Defense tough

Andover's 528 all-purpose yards included 373 rushing and 111 passing.

The winners also held a wide 18-8 edge in first downs.

Defensively the Warriors caused seven fumbles and had recoveries by Smith and linebacker Kurt Kozat (two each), Dan Trede, Toby Guzowski and Mark Cutler.

Trede added a pair of quarterback sacks while Smith, Matt Wolcott, Kozat and Cutler had one apiece.

Kozat had a pass interception, Guzowski batted down three passes from his end position, and Allard delivered another four-star performance at linebacker.

Group to walk Goldsmith woodlands this Sunday

If you live in the Andover area, enjoy the outdoors and have not yet walked through the Goldsmith woodlands, the Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club invites you to join a walk through this beautiful area Sunday, Nov. 11.

People of all ages are invited for a three to four-mile walk lasting about two hours.

The Goldsmith woodlands is a property under lease and management to the Andover Improvement Society (AVIS) and maintained by AVIS warden Alan Griffin.

The property consists of 131 acres of rolling wooded land bordering an equally large body of water known as Foster's Pond. None of this is visible from the road and access is gained through one narrow country dirt road.

To enjoy a walk and learn something of the history, geology and botany of this area, join leader Warren Lewis at 1:30 p.m. at the entrance to the reservation located on the west side of Route 28, 0.1 mile north of the intersection of routes 125 and 28 in Andover.

The fire log is on page 31 in today's Townsman.

vice agencies, the council voted 5 to 4 to allow placement of the home in the city.

He said he was disappointed with the obstacles some members of the city council attempted to place in front of the planned AIDS home.

"Lawrence could be a leader," in developing homes like the one Lazarus plans, he said.

"I understand that there is a lot of fear with AIDS...but others (city and town governments) are going to have to take a long hard look," and see what kind of needs residents have. He said the reality of AIDS affects everyone in every community.

"Very soon we are going to have to take a look at Andover's needs," said Mr. Clinton.

The home care to be provided for AIDS patients is cost effective compared to other types of traditional hospitalization and nursing care, said Mr. Clinton. The AIDS home is still in the planning stages. Lazarus House has received an initial $24,000 grant from the state to find an appropriate site, develop building plans and further fund-raising approaches.

Some of the other programs Lazarus House oversees are an overnight shelter with 38 beds and six cribs, where people staying overnight from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. and receive a hot supper; the Good Shepherd Center, a day drop-in center where needy people can eat a hot meal at noon; as well as an advocacy program to help unemployed people find work and apply for housing.

Another project in the works

'The city needs to take care of its own people.'

Paul Clinton

that Mr. Clinton's fund-raising efforts have helped build and equip is a medical and dental facility for the poor and homeless. Partial funding from the Department of Housing and Urban Development and time and services volunteered by area dentists and physicians will help establish the facility by the target date this winter.

Mr. Clinton was a fund raiser at Merrimack College in North Andover for three years before he began at Lazarus House. He was also an associate interim Methodist minister at West Parish Church in Andover. He lives with his wife, Doris, who is involved in the health service field at Bradford College. The couple has two daughters, Cynthia Hunter of Dracut and Deborah Clinton of Andover.

Channel 11 show tackles fire safety

Even small children should know how to behave in a fire.. Lt. Armand Guilmette of the Andover Fire Department, recently conducted a workshop for first- and second-graders at St. Augustine's School on home fire safety that will be shown on cable Channel 11.

"As several episodes of 'Rescue 911' have shown, children do remember what they are taught in workshops like the one Guilmette gave, and can save the day," said Karen Hayden, Heritage Cablevision's local access director. "We feel fortunate that Dan Tremblay decided to incorporate it into his series, 'Creating A Healthy Environment.' 'Between Takes' takes a look back before 'Isn't that special?' was Dana Carvey's trademark as the church lady. Join Mr. Carvey, Jonathan Frid and Barbara Meek as they discuss their careers on a local cable show, originally from Rhode Island.

Dental health is the topic of three short programs from the American Dental Association: "A Word to the Wise,"

New Superintendent, Mark McQuillan What's this man like, anyway?

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Mark McQuillan, Andover's next superintendent of schools, hasn't lost one ounce of the enthusiasm he exhibited during public interviews with the School Committee. The committee unanimously appointed Dr. McQuillan last week to succeed 22-year Superintendent Kenneth Seifert.

Dr. McQuillan has made several trips to town to become more acquainted with the place he will call home. He said he plans to spend as much time as possible in town and in the schools between now and his official starting date, January of 1991. Dr. McQuillan and the committee are negotiating a three-year, $75,000 annual salary and benefits.

"This is a beautiful town," said Dr. McQuillan as he dipped French fries in catsup and drank a Coca-Cola at Ford's Coffee shop during an interview with the Townsman earlier this week.

"Andover is one of the only towns in Massachusetts, besides where I live now, that I'd consider moving to and enrolling my daughter in its public schools," he added.

Dr. McQuillan, his wife, Dorothy, and their 8-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, live in Newton, where he first began teaching English 19 years ago. The couple has put their Newton home up for sale and are in the process of looking at houses in Andover.

The McQuillans are looking forward to their move to Andover. Dr. McQuillan said he would like to find a home that would allow him to utilize his skills in carpentry and wood-working.

"Our home in Newton is an older house. I've done some remodeling, added a new room and finished a basement study myself," he said.

His other hobbies include fly fishing and participating in public speaking competitions with the Toast Masters club. Toast Masters is a public speaking group through which professionals are encouraged to practice presentations in a supportive atmosphere.

Dr. McQuillan was born on the Hawaiian island of Maui 42 years ago. His family moved to California while he was still a baby. He grew up in Pleasant Hill, Calif., during what he referred to as the "golden age" of California. He described that time as an era of post-war boom of industry and population where money was pumped into the public schools that were "top flight."

Following high school graduation he enrolled in the University of California at Berkeley and graduated in 1970 with a bachelor's degree in comparative literature. The following year he enrolled in a graduate English literature program at Brandeis University in Waltham.

After a year he decided literature wasn't the direction he wanted to follow and he took a job teaching English in the Newton public school system.

"The Newton schools were trying a new approach to teaching then. It was an exciting time to be involved in new teaching concepts," he said.

'I feel I've cut my teeth in Newton, which I consider one of the top school systems in the state. Very few systems could compare to it, but Andover is one of those few.'

The program involved a mentorship pairing of veteran teachers with newcomers to the profession, like Dr. McQuillan. He said the program's strengths were its diverse teaching staff, which included a former priest, businessmen and a retired attorney, as well as its aggressive integration of the community's resources in the classroom.

Dr. McQuillan taught English at the middle school level in Newton for four years and then took a leave of absence to get his master's degree in education from Harvard University Graduate School of Education. From there he went to become the director of reading at the Plymouth public schools. Meanwhile, he continued work on his doctoral thesis, which focused on measurement of writing abilities.

During his time at Harvard he was a teaching fellow and taught courses such as The Heroic Tradition in Northern Europe, Early and Oral Literature and Linguistic, Education and Reading.

After a brief stint as a researcher at the Huron Institute in Cambridge studying standardized testing in public schools, he became a curriculum consultant for many public and private schools, including Newton public schools, Chelmsford, Boston, Plymouth, Sudbury, Cambridge and North Andover. He also did some consulting work for Montclair Academy and The Rhode Island School for the deaf.

For the past five years Dr. McQuillan has been the assistant superintendent of the Beverly schools. The Beverly schools have 4,500 students, just 200 less than Andover, distributed in exactly the same number of elementary, middle and high schools. Andover's and Beverly's school budgets are similar as well, both around $22 million.

Dr. McQuillan believes his accomplishments in Beverly include implementing curriculum and staff development. One of the many reasons members of the Andover School Committee said they chose Dr. McQuillan was for these abilities. One-half of the Andover teachers are expected to retire within the next three to five years.

"I think bringing in new staff is a challenge," he said.

Dr. McQuillan said he anticipates working with newly hired Personnel Director Candace Hall to develop a comprehensive plan to recruit new teachers during the next few years.

"I feel I've cut my teeth in Newton, which I consider one of the top school systems in the state. Very few systems could compare to it, but Andover is one of those few," he said.

Andover High '81 plans its reunion

Andover High School's class of 1981 will hold its 10-year reunion in 1991. The class reunion committee, chaired by Jim Dowe, has employed Reunions, A Class Organization Inc., to organize the event.

Reunions organizes and administers high school and other reunions.

For more information, call (800) 397-0010 or write Reunions, A Class Organization, 2155 Stonington Ave., Suite 108, Hoffman Estates, Ill. 60195.

He's deployed to Okinawa, Japan

Marine Gunnery Sgt. Brian A. Van Buskirk, whose wife, Donna, is the daughter of Roger and Linda Lafitt of 17 Boutwell Road, recently departed on deployment to Okinawa, Japan, as part of the Unit Deployment Program, while serving with 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

During the six-month deployment, he will participate in training exercises, including jungle warfare and cold weather training.

A 1975 graduate of North Andover High School, Sgt. Van Buskirk joined the Marine Corps in November 1975.

The deadline for news for next week's Townsman is this Friday at 5 p.m., due to the Monday Veterans Day holiday.

Reaction: 'It was a good, clean race'

our state, I hope," Mr. Coon said.

Mr. Coon will be sworn into his new position as a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives in early January. He isn't sure how he will spend his time between now and January, but said that for the next couple weeks he is going to "take it easy."

Mr. Coon first made it public in March that he was considering running for the House position and has been working on getting elected since then.

By 10 p.m. Tuesday, his supporters awaiting results outside the clerk's office at town offices were predicting a victory.

"A lot of hard work is paying off," said Kevin Khoury, of Bristol Lane.

Rep. Tucker was prepared to concede the race by 11 p.m. Tuesday, but had trouble getting in touch with Mr. Coon. She said she was "feeling fine" on Wednesday morning.

"I knew from the beginning this was going to be a very tough year," she said.

Last spring it was apparent people were angry, according to Rep. Tucker.

"I decided to stay and fight and I'm not sorry I did that," she said. "I'm very proud of the campaign we ran and I'm proud of the work that I did in the Legislature. I stood up for what I believed in and I talked issues over and over and over again."

"I wish Gary Coon the very best," she said. "I hope he remembers the kids."

Rep. Tucker said she left a legacy of which she is proud.

"The education bill in 1985 that I helped draft, the children's trust fund bill, receiving the environmental achievement award for work in environmental legislation."

"I stood for the things that Andover cares about, but this year the economy took precedent over the future. I talk about tomorrow and people's minds are on today, and I understand that."

It is too early to know what she will do once out of the Legislature in January, Rep. Tucker said.

Castillo loses to McGovern

Though Alba Castillo won just one precinct in Lawrence and was defeated outright by incumbent Sen. Patricia McGovern in Andover, she said she isn't disappointed with her finish.

"I realize I was facing a 10-year incumbent and it was my first run for office," Ms. Castillo said.

She said she was pleased with the work her campaign staff did through out the race.

"There were only 10,000 votes between us in a large district. I think we gave Senator McGovern a run for her money," Ms. Castillo said.

Ms. Castillo said she has no immediate plans to seek another elected office. She said she would consider working on campaigns of other candidates in the future.

Sen. McGovern was not available for comment Wednesday.

Other reactions

"It's a tough year to be an incumbent," Robert LaRochelle, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, said Tuesday night at town offices, as results were coming in.

But William Melahn, longtime Andover Republican and state committeeman for the Republican party, had a different sentiment.

"I think the results speak for themselves. It's time and the voters recognized it," Mr. Melahn said Wednesday.

"It looks like the Republicans are back."

Mr. Melahn speculated that the attention Mr. Coon brought to the elections with his campaign helped all Republicans, including William Weld.

Republican John Harris' victory over incumbent Dr. John Markey, of North Andover, for Governor's Council was also a big race, according to Mr. Melahn.

Mr. Harris, of 31 Lincoln Circle, unseated 14-year incumbent John Markey for a 5th district seat on the Governor's Council representing the Merrimack Valley and the North Shore. In Andover Mr. Harris finished with 8,556 votes over Mr. Markey's 4,737.

Mr. Harris ran for and lost the race against Mr. Markey in 1986.

Mr. Harris was out of town on business and couldn't be reached for comment on his win, but had campaigned against Dr. Markey as ineffective.

Mr. Harris ran a good campaign, which is unusual for that position, Mr. Melahn said. "The Harris race is especially interesting because Markey thumbed his nose at the voters and didn't campaign. That's a very significant race."

"Clearly the most painful is Sue Tucker's loss," said M. J. Powell, a longtime Andover Democrat. "Andover has lost an outstanding education advocate from the pre-school level all the way up to higher education."

"Economic issues clearly won out over education and environmental ones," Ms. Powell said.

"I'm very happy that Chet Atkins did win," she added.

But Ms. Powell is also happy with the choices of Republicans William Weld, Paul Cellucci and Joseph Malone, and said they were all "good people."

"We'll be fine. We'll get through this and learn from each other hopefully," she said.
